IN COAL MINING CIRCLES

The Probable Resumption of Work Throughout the Country.

COMING CONVENTION AT COLUMBUS

Advices From the Pittsburg Field—What President Knight of the Indiana District Has to Say Concerning it.

ALL QUIET AT HONEY BROOK

PITTSBURG, Sept. 5.—Expectations are high in coal mining circles over the probable resumption of work in the mines throughout the country. In anticipation of a settlement at Columbus next Wednesday another plan has been suggested by a representative of one of the largest operators which will be agitated immediately after the men return to work. It will be formulated and submitted to the joint convention of operators and miners, which it is proposed to hold next December. In order to come to an understanding on all questions at issue subsequent wage scales are to be formulated for each mine. The scale is to provide for the rate to be paid for the entire year and any special concessions that are to be made are to be agreed upon by the miners and the operators and so specified in the scale. The scale is to be an adjunct to the uniformity agreement which is expected to be in force.

Philip Stambaugh, a cousin of President McKinley and a partner in the firm of Osborne, Saeger & Co., was in Pittsburg this afternoon. He said the men formerly employed in the Eclipse mine on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio would be asked to go to work to-morrow morning at the 65 cent rate. He was not prepared to say how many men would go to work.

David Van Eman, manager of the Pittsburg and Chicago Gas Coal company's mines at Snowden and Gastonville, announced a week ago that he would resume work in his mines to-morrow morning. Notices were served on all the men living in company houses to vacate and the ten-day limit expires in the morning. At the mines it was stated that no man would go to work. Manager Van Eman could not be seen but it is generally supposed that no effort will be made to resume until after the Columbus convention.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 5.—President Knight, of the Indiana district, has returned from Columbus, where was held the meeting of the National Executive Board of Miners. Mr. Knight has been away from Indiana so much since the strike began that he cannot say with what favor the proposition of the Pittsburg operators will be met by the Indiana miners. He believes it contains the basis of a settlement, but he declares that "No adjustment of the strike that neglects the interests of any district involved in the strike will be agreed to."

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 5.—All was quiet in the Honey Brook strike district to-day. It is said now that the employes of Dodson & Co., at Slabtown, will insist on getting the increase of wages given by Van Wickle and that they are preparing to strike this week. To-morrow a monster Labor Day parade will be held here.

State College Opening.

The college year will begin Wednesday, September 15. The freshman class will be very large. The new trolley system, which was begun more than a year ago, has just been completed and will be ready for practical teaching in the operation of electric cars as soon as school opens. Dr. George W. Atherton, who went to Europe two months ago for his health, has thus far been little benefited and will not be home until late in the fall. In his absence the direction of the college will devolve on Prof. Buckhout, with the assistance of the board of trustees.

THE LOGAN PICNIC.

Lovely Weather and Lots of Fun at Beautiful Hunter's Park.

Finer weather could not be had than that which blessed the Logan picnic and ox roast at beautiful Hunters Park last Saturday. While the crowd was not as large as was expected still there were enough present to make things lively and all had a general good time.

The sports of the day were many and varied. They consisted of boating, dancing, bun eating contests, sack races, baseball and concluding in the evening with a very creditable display of fire works.

It is often the case that when an ox-roast is advertised to take place it turns out to be nothing but a calf and a small one at that; but such was not the case with the Logan picnic. When the Logans advertise to do a thing they always do it right. So this time the ox they roasted was an ox, and weighed when dressed over 300 pounds. Mr. Cyrus Brumgard, of Millheim, had charge of the roasting of the ox. The work of roasting it was begun about 2 o'clock Saturday morning. It is a very tedious job to roast an ox. The way they do it is to dig a hole in the ground about 6 feet deep, 6 feet long and 4 feet wide. This is walled up and a big fire is built in the bottom of it. Then the ox is strung on a long pole and covered with a wire net to keep it from falling apart. It is then held over the fire by two men who keep it turning until it is done. Everyone took a piece of the ox and pronounced it number one.

Everything passed off smoothly. There was lots of fun, plenty of pretty girls and what more could you desire. The best of order was maintained and the success of the affair reflects much credit on the Logan fire company and the committee in charge.

The committee consisted of Wm. T. Hillibish, chairman; Jas. D. Selbert, John McGinley, John Knisely and Thos. Shaughensey, Jr. The music of the day was furnished by the famous Zion band and was highly enjoyed by all present.

A very interesting game of base ball was played on the athletic field between the fats and leans, and at the middle of the ninth inning the score stood 11 to 11. The fats had their bats but refused to give the leans their's. For this reason umpire Linn Harris gave the game to the leans by the score of 9 to 0. Below are a few notes of the game.

NOTES OF THE BALL GAME

And Francis lost his quarter. The next time he won't be so flush with his money.

Linn Harris was hot stuff on Saturday and he certainly knows how to umpire a game of ball—nit.

Frank Naginey got that tired feeling soon after the first inning.

Geo. W. Rumberger said he was a grand stand player and has signed with the New Yorkers for next year.

Jim McClure has also signed with the New Yorkers. He is certainly a crackerjack of a player.

STARTED MONDAY.

State College Foot Ball Candidates Will Get Down to Work—Many Good Men Secured.

Monday fourteen or more candidates for the State College football team for the coming season went into preliminary training at Hecla Park, lodging in the new club house of the Nittany valley Rod and Gun club. The manager of the team this season will be John Seaman Albert of Philadelphia and the captain J. Mac Curtin of this place.

The candidates who reported for work Monday are Murray, who played center on last year's team, and who will again train for that position; Scholl, one of the best guards State has played for some time, and Randolph, another equally as good, both of whom will train for these positions. Two new men will be Eshler, of the High school, Pottstown, and Kewpey of the Susquehanna academy, both reputed excellent players, who will train for the tackles. The weight of the above five men range from 190 to 210 pounds. Heckel and Curtin, both of last year's team, will train for the ends, with a possibility that the latter may yet play at half. Cartwright, a sophomore, who has not been at college for the past three years, but will this year return to complete the course, will of course train for half. He was a member of the '93 team and one of the best in the aggregation. Another new man is Barnes of the Lawrenceville high school. Though young, Barnes has gained such a reputation as a football player that both the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton have been after him, but he has elected to come to State, and is here for training next this week.

There is a high profit in substitution, aided by public indifference. There will be no profit at all if people, always and everywhere, refuse counterfeit articles.

DESPERATE CRIMINAL

Eugene O'Hara, Burglar, Highwayman and Probable Murderer.

HAD CUT HIS WAY OUT OF PRISON

His Record is One of Many Crimes—He Was Especially Vicious When He Was Placed Under Arrest.

SOME OF HIS MISDEEDS GIVEN.

NEW YORK, September 5.—Eugene O'Hara, alias Joe Bates, alias James Brown, 42 years old, burglar, highwayman, desperado and probably murderer, who cut his way out of Jefferson Market prison here six years ago, and has been hunted ever since was recaptured to-day by detectives. After his escape O'Hara, with another fugitive from justice, named Joe Stranahan, made his way to Colon, from which place they later on proceeded to Europe, where they committed a series of bold crimes. Three years ago O'Hara returned to the United States and at Columbus, O., was caught in the act of burglary. He served a term of two and a half years for this crime and during the period of his imprisonment was not recognized as the escaped prisoner from this city. O'Hara was released recently and took up a residence in Jersey City. He made trips across the North river and at last the police were informed that O'Hara was visiting his old haunts here and took steps to arrest him.

Under the name of Joe Bates, O'Hara was in 1878 sentenced to a term of seven years at Sing Sing prison for a highway robbery committed here. Again in 1885 he was caught robbing a saloon in this city by Policeman William Ketchale, O'Hara made an attempt to shoot the policeman, but was finally landed in the station house. Before being sent to state prison a second time O'Hara threatened to kill Ketchale as soon as he had served his term.

On August 7, 1891, Policeman Ketchale's dead body was found floating in the North river and the mystery of his tragic death has not yet been cleared up. As O'Hara was known to be out of prison orders were issued to arrest him on suspicion of having killed Ketchale. Four days after the finding of the policeman's body, Patrolman Thomas F. McGuire was stabbed three times in the back by O'Hara. After a fight with another policeman named Sherwood the murderous crook was over powered and arrested. He was then committed in default of $5,000 bail to the Jefferson market prison to await trial for his attack on McGuire. O'Hara cut the prison bars with a saw and escaped.

Monday morning thirty laboring men left for Birmingham, Huntingdon county, to work for Mr. George Stevens in his large limestone quarries. These men have heretofore worked for the Valentine Iron company, but owing to the closing down of all the company's works the men had to seek employment elsewhere.

Purchased a Timber Tract

William Colyer purchased a hundred-acre tract of fine timberland on Nittany mountain, a few days ago, from Colonel W. F. Reynolds, of Bellefonte. He will cut it and work it up in his mills.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Unsuccessful in Their Attempt.

Thursday night burglars attempted to burglarize the postoffice at Renovo. They had broken in a panel in the door with a sledge hammer and with other tools. It is belived that they were frightened away while attempting to open the door.—L. H. Democrat.

DID HE STEAL THE WHEEL ?

A Man Who Gave His Name as Edward Woodring Locked Up Under Suspicion.

A young man who gave his name as Edward Woodring was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Officer Mullen, after a hard chase, on suspicion of stealing a bicycle.

The facts in the case are as follows : A few days ago a description of a stolen wheel was left with Louis Wetzel, but who the party was that left the description or where he was from, is not known. Wednesday morning a man walked into Wetzel's bicycle store with a wheel answering to that description and wanted to sell it to Wetzel for $10.00. He claimed that he bought the wheel from a man in Williamsport for $32.00. The man acted in such a suspicious manner and told so many conflicting stories, that Mr. Wetzel became suspicious and sent for Officer Montgomery, to whom he communicated the facts. In the meantime Woodring had gone out, leaving the wheel, with orders that it be fixed in time for him to take the 1:05 train. After dinner Officer Mullen was sent to hunt the man up, but when the man saw the officer coming he started and ran down the railroad track towards Milesburg. Lester Sheffer was sent after him on a wheel to head him off, and the officer started with a horse and buggy. They captured the man on the hill back of McCalmont's limekilns. He was brought to Bellefonte and taken before 'Squire Keichline, where information was made against him by Chief of Police Montgomery on the charge of being a suspicious character.

The man's story was as follows : My name is Edward Woodring. I have no home; my father is dead, but my mother and sister keep house for M. Dunning at Stormstown. I hired this wheel from a bicycle dealer who keeps a store on Pine street, Philipsburg. I do not remember his name. Hired it for one hour to go out to Blue Ball, with the understanding that if I did not come back I was to make it good.

The above is his story of the affair, but it conflicts with the story he told Wetzel. Another suspicious circumstance is, that he gave his name as I. Jones at the Brant House, where he took dinner. He also tried to sell the wheel to John Teats, offering it at any price that he had a mind to give, claiming that he could not ride it.

The wheel is a Crawford, '96 model, maroon finish, adjustable handle bars, bell and brake attachment and Sager saddle.

Woodring was committed to jail for a further hearing.

Killed by Rattlers.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 5.—On the farm of Nathan Cox, in Taylor county, Kentucky, several children were playing hide and seek yesterday afternoon. Cox's two young sons scampered to a large hollow stump to hide.

The first boy who entered the stump was instantly attacked by four rattle-snakes. Uttering a piteous cry and throwing up his hands he called for help from his brother.

The other child jumped on the stump and tried to pull his brother out. Before he could succeed he was also bitten. Ten minutes later both were dead.

Renovo Wheelwoman Injured.

At Renovo Saturday evening a young lady named Miss Blanche, while riding a wheel, collided with a North Bend wheelmen while rounding the freight house corner. Miss Blanche was knocked senseless to the ground. She was carried into Swain's drug store, where restoratives were applied. She did not recover consciousness for some time, and it was fully two hours before she was able to be taked home.

THE CITY LAW MAKERS MEET

The High Constable Called Down For Neglect of Duty.

OFFICER MULLEN WANTS A WEEK OFF

He Gets It—Many Citizens Have Requests to Make—The Nuisance Committee a very Important Committee—A Third Policemen Recommended.

BILLS PRESENTED AND ORDERED PAID.

Monday evening at 7:30 Council convened, with President Hillibish in the chair and the following members present : Messrs. Gerberich, Lowery, Shortlidge, Brachbill, Shaffer and Garrity.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Clerk Isaac Mitchell and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Officer Mullen requested permission of Council to be off duty next week from Monday until Saturday.

Mrs. J. A. Harper requested permission to connect the sewer pipe at her property on Thomas street with the street sewer.

Chairman Brachbill, of the Street committee, said that Mr. Hicklen requested that a crossing be laid across an alley from his property on Logan street. Built a crossing on Allegheny street, between Mr. Shank's and Steele Hunter's properties, and built wooden crossing over gutter at same place. Hauled stone to crusher. Repaired Buffalo Run bridge. Put up an arc light on East Howard street on Aug. 28.

Mr. Shortlidge, of the Village Improvement committee, spoke in regard to people trimming trees, and said he believed that where the trees obstructed the light Council had a right to trim them.

Chairman Gerberich, of the Water committee, said that a new water front had been put in No. 1 boiler ; are working on the new wall around the big spring ; recommended that the Water Works building be repaired—it would cost about $250.00. These repairs would keep it in good condition for the next twenty years.

Police committee had nothing to report except that complaints had been made to them of the boys running around the streets at night and raising a disturbance.

Chairman Shortlidge, of the Nuisance committee, reported that the pound had been put in proper condition for stray cattle. The Nuisance committee is a more important committee than people think. A third policeman should be appointed, who should act as a health officer and high constable combined, and he should be paid a fair compensation for his services. The high constable is not discharging his duty and he should be made to do so.

Mr. Shortlidge, the chairman of the above committee, has discharged his duty with fidelity, and he proposes that more attention shall be given to this important committee in the future.

Mr. Shortlidge moved that Officer Mullen be granted a leave of absence and that Robert Montgomery be appointed to act in his place during his absence. It was so ordered.

The request of Mrs. Harper to connect with sewer at her property on Thomas street was granted.

Mr. Hicklen's request for a crossing on Logan street, from his property to Mr. Lowery's, was granted.

It was decided to repair the Water Works as recommended by the Water committee.

Mr. John Wagner requested that a board-walk be laid along the Gordon, Ray and John P. Harris properties on North Spring street.

It was moved that the bondsmen of the High Constable be notified that he is not doing his duty.

Mr. Shortlidge moved that Council invite proposals to lay the board-walks along the properties of John P. Harris, S. D. Ray and the Gordon estate. It was seconded by Mr. Garrity and carried.

Mr. Shortlidge moved that proposals be invited for the removing of the railing in front of the Adams Express office and for the relaying of the pavement in front of the same office. It was so ordered.

The Veteran's Re-union.

Geo. T. Michaels and David Salmon, of Lock Haven, a committee of the Veteran association of Clinton county, were in Bellefonte on Wednesday, Sep. 1st, and met the committee here of the Veteran Club of Centre county and they together made the final arrangements for their joint re-union and picnic which is billed for Hecla park on Saturday Sept. 11th. This promises to be a monster affair and will likely eclipse the business men's picnic of Aug. 12. Bicycle races and base ball games are being arranged for the afternoon of that day. An old time dress parade will take place on the race track at 3 p. m. and it is suggested by the committees that all old soldiers supply themselves with canes for the occasion.

VETERAN'S PICNIC AT HECLA.

Arrangements Complete for the Big Event in the Park on Saturday.

Captain George T. Michaels, of Lock Haven, was in Bellefonte Monday where final arrangements for the Veterans' picnic at Hecla Park on Saturday were completed. The program for the day will be as follows : Business meeting of the association at 10:30 a. m., when committees on nomination of officers and place of next meeting will be appointed; reports of the Secretary and Treasurer read and other business transacted.

After dinner the meeting will be called to order again and the report of the committees will be received and acted upon. Following these will be addresses by ex-State Senator A. F. Thompson, of Lykens, Gen. Beaver and others.

At 3 o'clock there will be a dress parade and review, Gen. J. I. Curtin, commanding and Capt. G. T. Michaels acting as adjutant.

After the dress parade there will be bicycle races in the park.

Harry Weaver wins at Williamsport

The bicycle races held at Williamsport on Labor day under the auspices of the wheelmen's club of that city were largely attended and were very successful in every particular.

Harry Weaver, of Bellefonte was entered in several of these races and surprised everyone by his wonderful speed. He had for his competitors such men as Krick of Reading, who holds the State championship; Pete Gstalder, Bud Moore and Harry Speaker. Weaver won the first prize of a handsome diamond ring in the half mile handicap, and took third prize in the mile open. He also won several trial heats.

Weaver is but 17 years old and his performance is therefore phenomenal. He has the making of a great rider.

Aged Woman Burned to Death.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Margaret Yearick, a widow, aged 70 years, while alone in her home at Oak Grove, was fatally burned last night by the explosion of a coal oil lamp. She died in a few hours.

THERE IS PROMISE YET.

A Likelihood That the Strike Will be Settled To-Day.

OPERATOR REND AND HIS MEN

After the Meeting the Opinion Was Expressed That the Miners Would Work Pending the Arguments on Arbitration.

THE FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHTER.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2.—The National Executive Board of the United Mine Workers has adjourned until to-morrow morning without reaching a conclusion on the proposition of the Pittsburg operators. The board had a stormy session this afternoon, and there appears to be a decided difference of opinion among the members as to the best course to pursue. The proposition of the Pittsburg operators applies specifically to that district, but in effect all other districts are concerned. The proposition is that the Pittsburg miners shall return to work at a 64 cent rate pending arbitration, the conditions of the arbitration to be that the rate for mining coal shall not be fixed at more than 69 cents a ton, nor less than 60 cents. Under such conditions the miners maintain that they would probably not secure through arbitration more than 65 cents. They want 69 cents and there is some doubt whether they could be induced to accept less without a vigorous protest and a long drawn out controversy. The Ohio miners want all they can get, naturally, but what they insist upon most is the maintenance of the differential of nine cents in their favor, which they have held so long.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 2.—Col. W. P. Rend to-day met his 1,000 miners through a committee of 12 men selected for the purpose at McDonald, Pa. There was an immense gathering of miners, their wives and children about the place of conference. The best of feeling prevailed and Colonel Rend announced after the conference that there was a full and candid discussion of the merits of the last plan proposed for the settlement of the strike. He says the committee that waited on him assured him that the plan had their cordial support and they felt that the body of miners would endorse it if submitted to them. The colonel pointed out to his men how an enforced settlement would result in only temporary gain to each side, and repeated to them his well known views in favor of arbitration. He said 54 cents was not a living rate, but thought 69 cents too much· He concluded by saying:

"In my judgment the proper course to pursue is this: A general convention of operators and miners in Western Pennsylvania should be called to consider the terms of adjustment now offered, and that are to-day the subject of discussion at the Columbus conference."

No action was taken by the men, but Colonel Rend is confident that, if left to their own inclinations, his men would resume work to-morrow at 64 cents pending arbitration.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow, at which it is expected resolutions will be adopted declaring that Colonel Rend's men wil return to work at the rate proposed at the Columbus conference.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 2.—Judging from surface indications it seems reasonably certain that President Ratchford, of the United Mine Workers, and his colleagues in office will reject the offer of the operators to return to work at the 64 cent rate pending arbitration.

Influence has been brought to bear upon the strike leaders from this district to induce them to assume such an attitude. The sentiment among the miners here is so intense for a '69 cent or nothing' settlement that all the local labor leaders now in the city have advised strongly for a continuation of the fight, along the present lines and to the bitter end.

Secretary Warner wired this morning to Ratchford that the miners here want 69 cents or defeat.

JOHN A. DALEY.

His Speech at the Three Corps Reunion at Buffalo.

John A. Daley, of Company A. 45th Penna. Vol., of Romola, Centre county, presided Thursday of last week at the Three Corps reunion held at Buffalo. In speaking of his address the Buffalo Express says;

Comrade John Daley of Bellefonte, Pa., paid a glowing tribute to the work of the nurses who lessened the sufferings of the wounded Union soldiers who temporarily cared for in the field hospitals in his address at the reunion of the 9th, 15th and 18th Corps held yesterday afternoon at Camp Jewett.

"I remember," said he, "a young Irish soldier who was brought into one of the hospitals with a shattered arm. He was turned over to the surgeon and when the useless arm was removed the nurse came and did all she could to make the poor fellow comfortable.

"And he was grateful to her for her efforts. Late in the evening when she came with a soothing draught to make him sleep he looked up at her and smiled weakly as he whispered. 'God bless ye, me darlin'; may ye be six weeks in Heaven before the devil finds out ye're dead.'

Mr. Daley graphically rehearsed the old, but ever new story of the fierce campaigns in which the Ninth Corps participated.

The horrors of confinement at Andersonville were vividly portrayed by W. W. Crandall of Whitesville, N. Y., and interesting speeches were made by Robert Milligan of Westfield, N. J., and David F. Wright, who was a member of the 51st New York Volunteers.

A Long Time Coming.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., September 2.—Constable Woomer, of Morrisdale. this county, who arrested the man suspected of being David Weeks, one of the murderers of George Marcus Nichols, of Trumbull, Fairfield county, Conn., stated to-day that the arest of the suspect was brought about through circulars and descriptions given of the murderers of the aged farmer. The constable also had a photograph of Weeks, and it was while the two men were in the dining room of Bloom's hotel, this city, that Mr. Woomer thought he recognized in the man one of the slayers of Nichols. He took a photograph from his pocket and compared it with his man, and then concluded to place Weeks under arrest.

The constable stated that a man would be in this city either to-night or to-morrow morning for the purpose of identifying the prisoner.

People We Know.

A party of Philipsburg, Pa., young men, bound goldfieldwards, consisting of O. T. Switzer, C. B. French and H. L. Carlisle, are in the city and tonight they will leave on the city of Seattle for Victoria where they will take the Bristol for St. Michaels at St. Michaels they will transfer to the river steamer Eugene going direct to Dawson City. last night the party were seen at the Hotel Stevens and stated that they were generally surprised at the moderate prices charged in Seattle for supplies. They were told in St. Paul that they could not get Bacon or flour in Seattle at any but panic prices. Upon their arrival here they found everything cheaper than the figures quoted them in St. Paul. They did say, however, that they found hardware higher here than in Pennsylvania, but that was not to be wondered at. They came from an iron manufacturing state, and naturally brought a schedule of values with them. When the freight and packing were added, however, there was no great difference, and they expressed themselves entirely satisfied. The only regret they feel is in the matter of leaving Seattle, which they say is the best city in the country to-day. All of the members of the Philipsburg party are old-time friends of ex-City Clerk R. F. Stewart, and for the past three days he has divided his time in assisting them to make up a first class outfit. They will take up nearly a ton to each man, all of which has been purchased in Seattle, excepting furs and fur garments, which they bought in St. Paul.—Seattle Post-Inteligencer.

Back From the Grave

We cannot come, but we can often stay our progress thither. Disease, like else, must have a beginning. All maladies tend to shorten life, and render it a species of martyrdom while they last. Malaria, kidney complaint, chronic indigestion, rheumatism—all have small beginnings, and may be stayed at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This excellent tonic and alterative is adapted alike to the prevention of disorders of the system and to their removal, and its early use cannot be too strongly advocated. To renew appetite and insure tranquil rest, there is no surer and pleasanter means than the Bitters. The effects of overwork and exhaustion, mental or physical, are counteracted by it, and the busy merchant, the tired clerk or operative, and the brain weary student, author or newspaper man, derive from it present relief and future energy.

King of Them All.

Star Pointer, the great Chicago pacing stallion, on Saturday succeded in reducing the world's pacing record from 2:01¼, which was made by John R. Gentry at Glens Falls last year, to 1:59¼. This event took place at the Grand Circuit meeting at Readville, Mass., and there is, therefore no question as to its honesty.

This wonderful performance was witnessed by 8,000 people, and the big crowd almost went wild when the game stallion passed under the wire. Star Pointer was driven by his trainer, McClary, and was accompanied by a runner, The first two attempts at scoring were not satisfactory, but on the third attempt McClary nodded for the word. The first quarter was at an even two-minute gait in 30 seconds. In the second quarter McClary called on the big pacer to move and there was a great cheer as he was beating two minutes all to pieces, and got to the half in :59¾, with the second quarter in :29¾. The third quarter was the fastest of the mile, the distance being covered in :29¼, a 1:57 gait.

Around the turn Star Pointer seemed to waver the smallest fraction of a second, but McClary had him right almost before one could see it, and then he straightened into the stretch, the runner moving up even closer. Both pacer and runner were asked to step along. McCarthy laid the whip on the runner, but McClary spoke only a word of encouragement to his horse. At the draw gate Star Pointer was reefed a little, and coming stronger from the distance the great pacing stallion appeared to freshen in the last few strides, gathering fresh strength and courage as he neared the wire, and finished like a lion in the record-breaking time of 1:59¼.

Star Pointer is a Tennessee bred stallion by Brown Hal, dam Sweedstakes, and is owned by James A. Murphy of Chicago.

Tourists Sweep Down a Crevasse.

BERNE, September 2.—Further advices from La Salle, near Mount Pleureur, show that the reports of the accident to a party of Alpine tourists in that vicinity were not exaggerated. Eight persons started from Sion, capital of the Canton of Valais, to ascend Mount Pleureur. The latter is 12,155 feet high and is not a very difficult ascent.

The tourists were led by Pastor Gonin, of Sion, and they made the ascent divided into two parties of four each. The first of these parties reached the summit and the second was only a short distance behind when the four persons composing it were swept by an avalanche into a crevasse 1,000 feet deep. It is still hoped that some of the tourists may be rescued. The missing party was composed of Pastor Gonin, two school boys from Lausanne, and a young Englishman named Bernard.

Mr. Meyer is a recent graduate of that institution and has accepted a position as principal of the Alexandria, Pa., public schools this year.

Sold His Implement Store.

W. O. Rearick, the manufacturer of the Centre Hall corn planter and dealer in farm implements, has sold his retail department to H. I. Wise, formerly of Zion. Mr. Wise will occupy the store room in the foundry building and will look after the trade of implements.

Can anybody tell why Mr. Bryan does not rise and fally explain to the people the reason that since the election of McKinley and a Republican Congress a slight divergence has occurred in the relative values of wheat and silver? Has the matter been called to his attention?

Of course it was the gold power which sent statisician Mulhall over to this country to show that our prairie States upon which the free silverites build their hopes of last year produce five times as much food per each person as in the most advanced sections of Europe.

A Life Saved.

A FOND DAUGHTER WAS NIGH TO DEATH.

Frank B. Trout Tells a Reporter of How His Daughter's Life Was Saved. All Parents Should be Interested in This Narrative.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

Using as a nucleus for his investigation the rumor that the life of the daughter of Frank B. Trout, well known in Detroit, Mich., real estate circles, had been saved, a reporter called on Mr. Trout at his office, 103 Griswold Avenue. Mr. Trout showed some hesitancy in giving his opinion for publication, but finally said: "Circumstances and a father's love for his child forced me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but not until the whole medical profession had exhausted their skill. At the age of fourteen we had to take our daughter from school owing to her health. Before this she had been in the best of health, happy and in the best of spirits. She began to fall away and became pale and languid. She was so weak that she would fall down in a faint every time she tried to walk unsupported. The best of physicians attended her, but she continued to grow weaker and seemed to be gradually fading away.

"When she was fifteen she weighed only ninety pounds, and the doctors said it was anæmia. Several physicians said she might outgrow it, but that it would no doubt terminate in consumption. No doctor we had could help her, and we concluded ourselves, we must lose our child, as she was growing weaker every day.

"We had tried all the well-known remedies, and finally about a year ago I bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and took them home. That day I had read of a case about the same as my daughter's, and decided to give them a trial, though I must confess I did not have much faith. Before she had taken all of the first box we noticed a change for the better. She, however, gained strength daily and looked brighter. Every one noticed the change, and I bought two more boxes for her.

"When she had taken two boxes she was strong enough to leave her bed, and in less than six months was something like herself. To-day she is entirely cured, and is a big, strong, healthy girl, weighing 130 pounds, and has never had a sick day since.

"I do not think she uses them now, though I always keep them in the house. My wife and I have recommended them to our neighbors, and sent a few to another young girl who seems to be in the same condition as my daughter. Had not Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my daughter's life, I would not recommend them to any one. I know they do all and more than is claimed for them, and I am glad to recommend them to the world. I know Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved my daughter's life, and that is enough for me."

F. B. TROUT.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourth day of March, 1897.

"Saved From the Horrors of Nervous Prostration" by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

A COUGH does not always indicate consumption. Mr. W. H. Palmer, of Waterloo, Iowa, writes: "I was taken with a nervous stricture of the bronchial tubes, which developed into nervous prostration, I was so weak I could not sit up. I got no sleep for days except when under the influence of opiates. For four months I suffered agonies and prayed that I might die and be at rest. One physician said I had consumption, for I had a cough that gave me no rest. But a good old physician whose medicine had failed, advised me to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and I thank God that it has brightened my days, lengthened my life and saved me from the horrors of nervous prostration."

A FATAL WRECK.

One Which Occurred on the D. L. & W. Yesterday Morning.

HOW THE TROUBLE OCCURRED

There Was a Sharp Curve and Because of This a Car Left the Track and Plunged Into the Little Station House.

NAMES OF THE VARIOUS VICTIMS

CORTLAND, N. Y. September 2.—One person was killed, half a dozen badly injured and about a dozen slightly bruised and cut by flying glass in a wreck this morning on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at Blodgett's Mills, a small town seven miles from this place.

Mrs. G. M. McQuillen, of everbrook, a suburb of Philadelphia, was almost instantly killed.

The injured are: Mrs. J. H. McQuillen, a daughter-in-law of the dead woman, of Philadelphia; Price McQuillen and Daniel McQuillen, two grand-children of Mrs. G. M. McQuillen; Mrs. Connell, of Scranton, badly bruised; Miss Connell, of Scranton, cut by flying debris and slightly bruised; Mrs. Dr. Rogers, of Wilkesbarre, slightly bruised; Denman Nell, aged 10 years, of Philadelphia, cut about the face and slightly bruised.

The wrecked train was south bound vestibule train No. 4, which left Syracuse at 9 o'clock this morning. Nearing the station at Blodgett's Mills the main track makes a sharp curve at a point a few feet north of the passenger station. The Pullman car left the track and plunged into the corner of the little station. The building was knocked from its foundation and the Pullman car almost torn into splinters. The injured were nearly all in the Pullman car.

Superintendent A. P. Schwartz, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, was on the wrecked train, but escaped with a few scratches. Mrs. McQuillen had been on a visit to relatives at Glen Haven.

The Honorable Benjamin Ryan Tillman is out now with the old silvercratic assertion of last fall that the rise in wheat is due to the manipulations of Mark Hanna. He spoke the other day at Troy, N. Y., and stated that he did not see any signs whatever of genuine prosperity. The movement sweeping over the country is nothing but a "hot-balloon affair," and the wheat boom merely "speculative" and designed to aid Mark Hanna. When wheat advanced last fall during the campaign the popocratic orators attributed its rise to Mark Hanna and his myrmidons, and this was one of the most ridiculous silvercratic charges made. But now, when there is no particular need of telling extravagant yarns, Senator Tillman reiterates the assertion and evidently hopes people will believe it. The rise in wheat was felt about the time the country became confident that Bryan would be defeated. The statistical abstract of the Treasury Department gives the wheat quotation in New York on August 27, 1896, as 67 cents. Wheat is now hovering in the neighborhood of 100 cents, the advance having been since that time fully 35 cents per bushel. The wheat crop of the world of last year was 2,430,397,000 bushels, and the "Corn Trade News" of Liverpool, estimates the present year's crop at 2,398,000,000 bushels. The advance in value of the crop of this year over that of last would, according to these figures, be in the neighborhood of $750,000,000. Does farmer Tillman really expect that people are going to believe that Mark Hanna or any other man can, for political purposes, or for any other purposes advance the wheat value of the world three-quarters of a billion of dollars? Such a proposition would savor of the idiotic if a second thought did not cast upon it a suspicion of dishonesty.

The Veteran's Re-union.

Geo. T. Michaels and David Salmon, of Lock Haven, a committee of the Veteran association of Clinton county, were in Bellefonte on Wednesday, Sep. 1st, and met the committee here of the Veteran Club of Centre county and they together made the final arrangements for their joint re-union and picnic which is billed for Hecla park on Saturday Sept. 11th. This promises to be a monster affair and will likely eclipse the business men's picnic of Aug. 12. Bicycle races and base ball games are being arranged for the afternoon of that day. An old time dress parade will take place on the race track at 3 p. m. and it is suggested by the committees that all old soldiers supply themselves with canes for the occasion.

The Dingley Tariff.

The completion of the tariff bill and the analysis of its sugar schedule by the highest authorities in Washington and New York shows the falsity of the statements which Democratic orators and editors have been parading that the bill is advantageous to the sugar trust, and especially shows the falsity of the charge that it is more advantageous to the refiners than the Wilson law. The bill, as framed by the House, made the rate on refined sugar 12½ cents per hundred pounds, or 1-8 of a cent per pound greater than the average rate on unrefined sugar. Since it is asserted that sugar cannot be refined for less than 1 8 of a cent per pound, this difference, or "differential" as it is termed was deemed fair and not in any way advantageous to the trust. The Senate increased the differential by reducing the rates on raw sugar, and this action was criticised as giving the sugar refiners, whether in or out of the trust an advantage. The House was determined that Congress should not rest under the suspicion of having given to the sugar trust any advantage, and insisted upon the return to the rate which gave a 'differential' of only 12½ cents per hundred pounds The Senate conferees urged that an additional protection be given to the beet sugar growers, and as a result the rates were advanced by the conference committee, but in a manner which left the 'differential' precisely that named by the House bill, i. e., 12½ cents per hundred pounds. This is generally conceded to be no more than the actual cost of refining, and does not therefore give the sugar trust any advantage. The fact that sugar trust stock advanced incidentally when the action of the conferees became known has led to the charge that the action of the committee was in some way advantageous to the trust. The explanation of this advance, however, lies in an entirely different direction. The sugar trust had imported during the past few months over seven hundred thousand tons of raw sugar, knowing that the amount of increase in tariff rates of the new bill would enable them to realize an enormous profit. The fact that the trust had this enormous amount on hand and would probably make a profit on it caused the stock to advance from time to time, for it was known that the profit which the trust would make upon this speculation would figure in the neighborhood of 12,000,000 dollars. But a shadow was cast upon this question of an enormous profit by the fact that Secretary Gage had recommended to Congress that an internal revenue tax of one cent per pound be placed on all unrefined sugar in the country at the time of the enactment of the law, and it was not until those who were watching this subject were convinced by the report of the conference committee that this internal revenue tax would not be imposed upon the sugar in hand that they became assured of the enormous profits which the trust would make upon its stock of sugar thus accumulated. When they were assured of this fact it was apparent that the dividends which the trust would be able to pay in the ensuing year by reason of the advance in the 700,000 tons of sugar which they held would be enormous, and the value of its stock correspondingly advanced. It was this fact, and this only, which caused the advance in the stock of the sugar trust during the closing days of the consideration of the bill. Everybody familiar with the subject knows to a certainty that the bill cuts off the special advantages which the trusts had under the Wilson law, and nobody should be fooled by the claim of the Democrats that the advance in stocks of the trust was an evidence that the new law is advantageous to the trust. It gives to the refiners barely the difference between raw sugar and refined sugar, or the actual cost of refining, and nothing more, and that, it is conceded, is justice.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS MEET

A Grand Christian Rally of Endeavors at Howard.

BELLEFONTE FULLY REPRESENTED

Meetings Were Held in Different Churches. The Holy Spirit is Certainly Reigning Supreme.

R. H. IRWIN WAS ELECTED PREST.

The 5th, Annual Convention of the Centre County Christian Endeavor, convened in the Evangelical church at Howard on Wednesday evening Sept 1st, at 7:15 o'clock. The delegates arrived slowly and when the first ballot was taken, there was only about 28 votes to represent the number of delegates.

The interior decorations of the church with flowers and potted plants was superb, and reflects infinite credit, on those who arranged them so artistically.

The delegates registered represent a large portion of the county. It was a disappointment that G. W, Lichenthaler esq. of Philipsburg, who is the efficient president was detained away by business because he is a host in himself

Rev. Means, pastor of the Presbyterian congregation in Philipsburg, took the parts on the program assigned to the President, except that of presiding, which was performed by Miss Louise Hensyl in in a very satisfactory manner, eumerous hymns were sang with volume and power.

At the opening of the service, Miss Maud Hopkins presided at the organ, during all the music including a special duet by Miss Louise Hensyl and Miss Maud Schenck. These two young ladies sang very nicely. The formal words of welcome were spoken by Rev. Sechrist, the pastor, after Rev. Means had offered the invocation. The presiding officer had read the 13th chapter of Corinthians and the words of "Love" as dwelt upon there, seemed to be the keynote of the address of welcome, as well as for the response by Rev. Means; both address were good. They alluded to the Christian Endeavor movement as the most wonderful of the time.

This is the age of organization. Reference was made to the different denominations represented and the Oneness in Christ which they show forth. When the two speakers were through, the delegates felt welcome indeed, to the Home and Hearths of the people of Howard.

District secretary R. H. Irwin read the minutes of the previous County convention which were approved and adopted. The election of officers was then in order, Messrs Walker and Lucas acted as tellers and the election resulted in the choice of the following:

R. H. Irwin, President; Miss Louise Hensyl, Vice President; C. B. Delong Recording Secty; Each officer pledged himself or herself to the best work in their power. The District secretary made the following appointments: J. C. Weaver, Supt. of District work; Miss Rose Levy, Supt. of Junior work; Miss Jane McCalmont, Supt. of Missionary work.

Thursday morning there was a sunrise prayer meeting which was conducted by Miss Louise Hensyl, and was well attended all being spiritually benefitted.

The Golden Rod Dance.

One of the finest dances ever given in Bellefonte took place Thurs. evening in the large armory. Everything seemed to go off in the finest way. The armory was beautifully decorated with golden rod, ferns and palms, which certainly made a grand display. The young men who worked so hard and zealously deserve a great deal of credit, and then the music was beyond the common run of orchestra music. It was certainly very pretty and was furnished by Chappel's orchestra.

The ladies who acted as patronesses were: Mrs. Geo. W. Jackson, Mrs. A. O. Furst, Mrs. J, L. Spangler, Mrs. L. T. Munson, Mrs. Geo. L. Potter, Mrs. J. H. Lingle, Mrs. D. H. Hastings, Mrs. W. F. Reeder, Mrs. A. Brockerhoff, Mrs. G. F. Harris, Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes, Mrs. John M. Dale, Mrs. W. F. Reynolds, Mrs. J. N. Lane, Mrs. J. L. Montgomery, Mrs. J. M. Bullock, Mrs. T. A, Shoemaker, Mrs. F. Warfield.

The committee was composed of the following named gentlemen: Hard P. Harris, J. Malcolm Laurie, Edmund Blanchard, James H. Harris, Fred Blanchard, Geo. R. Meek.

Among the guests from a distance were Miss Lillie Morris, of Tyrone, and her guest Miss Carolina Teasdale, of Cincinnatti, O.; the Misses Hoover, of Philipsburg; Miss Beatrice Howe, of Cleveland, O.; Miss Margery Knowles, Richmond, Va.; Miss Good, of Lock Haven, and Miss Mary Wood, of Conshohocken.

Composition of Full Cream Cheese.

The Pennsylvania Experiment Station has published a Bulletin of Information, by Dr. William Frear, on "The Composition of Full Cream Cheese," of which it makes the following summary:

Owing to the recent enactment of a law fixing a legal standard for full cream cheese made or sold in Pennsylvania, numerous inquiries have been received as to the average composition of such cheese, and the variations in the composition likely to arise from differences in the quality of the milk from which it is made or from slight modifications in the manner of its manufacture. Existing informations derived from experiments made by the Agricultural Experiment Stations of several States, is sufficiently full to answer the most important of these questions in view of the wide spread interests in the subject it has seemed well to present the results of these experiments so far as they bear upon the more important questions raised by the establishment of a cheese standard. These results may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. Experiments on a large scale, in five States and Provinces, show that average factory milk very rarely produces green cheese containing less fat than the Pennsylvania legal standard for full cream cheese, viz., 32 per cent.

2. Four sets of experiments show that the green cheese loses about five per cent in weight during one month's curing, and that this loss is chiefly in the water content of the cheese. Consequently a green cheese containing only 30.5 per cent. of fat will probably be of standard "full cream" quality after one month's curing.

3. Neither minor variations in manufacture—providing gross carelessness be avoided—nor variations in the factory milk supply, unless it include much partly-skimmed milk, are to be feared as a cause of deficiency in fat.

Copies of this bulletin can be secured by addressing the Agricultural Experiment Station, State College, Centre county Pa.

—Use a good white soap free from rosin for washing blankets. Slice it into a kettle of hot water and let it dissolve. Pour it into the tub and turn on the hot water, which should be almost scalding. Put in the blankets, covering the tub to keep in the steam, and let them stand about fifteen minutes. Then souse them up and down and turn them over. Rinse in a second tub of hot water and ammonia, Rinse again in hot water with a little soap in it. Wring out and hang in the wind to dry. Do not let the sun shine long on the blankets, as it yellows them.

Richer Than the Klondike.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—A letter has just been received from the north fork of the MacMillin river, Alaska, from George Lemmon, addressed to his wife in South Tacoma, giving particulars of a fabulously rich strike on this tributary of the MacMillin river.

He and his partner went there from the Yukon on information from an Indian who accompanied them last spring, and he says that they have struck a locality richer than the Klondike. In three months they have made a clean up of $55,000. He says they have a large bucket and a bean can full of nuggets, and, although they have no scales, they believe it will reach the amount named.

The Guitar Club Will not Disband.

In one of our weekly papers it was stated the Imperial mandolin and guitar club had probably made its last appearance on Saturday evening. It is true Mr. Gearhart who has been the leader, will soon leave our town, but that doesn't say the club must disband.

Messrs. McCulveyhouse and Brown and some of the other young men wish us to say the club will continue to fulfill all engagements. They will also add more men and endeavor to make the club a grand success this coming winter.

Hamilton, both of Philadelphia, purchased the sloop Trixey T., and will sail next week for the Copper River. They take provisions for one year and will confine their efforts to discovering placer claims.

Bicycle Manufactories.

The number of bicycle manufacturers in 1894 was only 73. In the year 1895 there were 225, and in 1896 the number had increased to 559. In 1897, up to July 1, there were 577. The failures and receiverships up to August 1 this year were 304, leaving 271 bicycle manufacturers still in existence. The smaller concerns are being gradually pushed to the wall while the large manufacturers have survived.

The Mother's Example.

A mother writes the Michigan Farmer that the cheerfulness which should be one of the chief characteristics of the home life is often sadly lacking, solely because the example of cheery disposition is not set by the wife and mother. One glimpse of her face as she begins the duties of the day is sufficient for the other members of the family. If it bears the illumination of a pleasant smile as she passes from room to room; if her greeting to the others is bright and cheery; if she has a pleasant word for those with whom she mingles, they will catch the inspiration and the day will be made sunny and bright thereby.'

If, on the other hand, she is fretful and impatient; if the children are given to understand that "mothers out of sorts to day," it casts a cloud over every one, and in their play the little ones will be found bearing the impress of their mother's example in their manner toward each other. They, too, will fret and frown, will slap each other in perfect imitation of the way in which they are treated. Children are such perfect imitators that we must be very careful of our conduct or we will find ourselves reproduced in no very flattering manner.

It means a great deal to be a home-maker, not a mere housekeeper, but to make a true, happy home, one which children may look back upon with pleasure, when, in after years, they have left it far behind and the mother who made it so has gone to her reward.

PENNSYLVANIA MILLERS.

Their 20th Annual Convention Meets In Philadelphia.

LARGE CAPITAL IS REPRESENTED

There Are Over 200 Delegates Stopping in Philadelphia, Many of Then Being From New York, New Jersey and Other Eastern States.

THE PREST. READ HIS ANNUAL REPORT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—The Pennsylvania Millers' State association began its twentieth annual convention in the Hotel Walton this afternoon. A private meeting of the board of directors was held this morning to consider the annual report of the board to be presented at this afternoon's session. There are over 200 delegates stopping in the city, many of them being from New Yor , New Jersey and other eastern states. The association is not local in its interests, but was founded to benefit all the millers in the eastern states,

A large capital is represented by the convention. A conservative estimate places the capacity at 25,000 barrels daily, which at an average price of $5 per barrel, amounts daily to a business of $125,000

The session of the association was held in the large banqueting hall of the hotel. The room was profusely decorated with bunting and plants and all the delegates were in their seats when President Asher Miner, of Wilkesbarre, called the convention to order. Mr. Miner read his annual report and the reports of Secretary W. H. Richardson and Treasurer Landis Levan were presented. The remainder of the afternoon session was occupied by the reading of a paper by J. M. MaGuire, entitled "Millers' Insurance." This evening A. J. Toomey spoke on "Impressions of South Africa," and W. H. Richardson on "A Practical Association."

To-morrow morning the members of the association will be tendered a reception at the Commercial museums and will be shown a special exhibit of grain and flour from most of the nations of the world. After the reception at the museum a visit will be made to the bourse, and in the afternoon the association will again get down to business. On Thursday a trip will be taken to Atlantic City.

Latest Advices from Cuba.

HAVANA, via KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 5.—A wealthy merchant named Blas Casares has been arrested in Puerto Principe charged with political offences.

A party of insurgents recently made an attack upon Fort Santo Cristo Del Valle, near Sabalo, in the province of Pinar Del Rio. The garrison made a stout resistance, but the insurgents set fire to a house near the walls of the fort, which took fire, compelling the garrison to retire with the loss of six men killed. After sharp fighting the insurgents were driven off.

During the month of August 500 persons died in Guines from epidemic diseases. All of the victims with one exception were Cubans. The rate of mortality among the refugees is very great and the same is true regarding the troops. The mortality due to yellow fever, malaria and dysentery is excessive. It is estimated that 37 out of every 1,000 sick soldiers in the hospitals throughout the island die. It is stated that from 20 to 26 deaths occur on each trip of the steamers which carry sick and disabled troops from Cuba to Spain. Three deaths occurred on one of these steamers recently before she left port.

Alarm at Hazleton.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 6.—The situation in the strike district to-night is alarming. The sheriffs of Carbon, Schuylkil and Luzerne counties, after consulting with the operators, this afternoon, issued a proclamation prohibiting mob parades or demonstrations. Several hundred deputies have been commissioned.

The strikers say they will parade to-morrow and prevent work, if any is attempted. The coal companies to-day began swearing in deputies and will try to start their mines without the aid of the strikers, if the latter still insist on remaining out.

SUICIDE AT ALTOONA.

Harry Clabaugh Puts a Bullet Through His Head.

A terrible sequal to the failure of the Second National bank of Altoona, the subsequent flight of Cashier Harry Gardner, and the suicide of Bank Examiner William Miller many months ago, was the death Monday by his own hand, of Harry Clabaugh, who was assistant cashier of the unfortunate bank at the time of Gardner's defalcation.

Harry Clabaugh, who has been employed for some time as a clerk in the Juniata shops at Altoona, informed his wife Monday morning that he would not be home for dinner but would dine at his father's home at Logantown. He went to the latter place and ate dinner as he said he would, and about 12:30 o'clock left the house and went to an outhouse where a few moments later a shot was heard. On investigation it was found that Clabaugh shot himself through the head. He lived only a half hour, death ensuing at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The deceased was about 30 years of age, and is survived by his wife; they had no children. Since the bank troubles with which he had been unfortunately connected, when he was arrested several times and taken to Pittsburg for trial before the federal courts, though he came out of the ordeal with no discredit to his reputation, the worry left his mind in bad condition, and it was through the resulting despondency that he finally died by his own hand.

Back From Skaguay.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 5.—The steamer Queen arrived from Skaguay, bringing thirty men who have given up the idea of getting across the passes. A thousand men have gone to work in the Skaguay trail to try to open it up, no one being allow meantime to go through. Many men will wait until snow falls and take outfits over on sleighs, In fact sleighs are already being used to cross the summit on Dyea trail. There have been twenty desertions from United States steamship Concord at Juneau, the men leaving to go to the mines.

E. M. Losikatos, who went into the Klondyke last spring, sends out word to his partner, Mr. Hens of Juneau that he has struck it rich. He says: "I sunk two prospect holes without finding anything, but in the third I could pick up nuggets with my hands. I am so excited that I cannot write. We are rich, the amount of gold that people have here is something appalling."

A LOCAL SMITHY.

Lay Aside His Hammer and Tongs to Discuss What to Him was a new Discovery.

If this discovery was unearthed by a blacksmith in Boston, Buffalo or Bradford we would not ask our readers to believe it but when you can find a blacksmith at No, 23 Thomas street where he will corroborate personally what is here made public. He says:—"The trouble in my back started from a strain I received while shoeing a horse that was rather hard to handle. I have taken a number of kidney remedies and I have been treated by a physician who told me my kidneys were out of gear but he could do nothing for me. Besides being troubled with severe backaches the urine was very dark and I had severe headaches. I know they originated from my kidneys for since I used Doan's Kidney Pills they have stopped, I saw a number of accounts of remarkable cures made by the old Quaker remedy and although I did not know any of the people I concluded to try them as a sort of a venture. I sent to the Pharmacy of F. Potts Green for a box and commenced to use them. Colds used to affect me. I have contracted one since I ceased using them and notice no inconvenience. I have also done a great deal of horse shoeing and other heavy work since but my back has stood the test all right. I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6th, 1897.

Other officials are just as deeply interested in the suit brought against Postmaster General Gary and First Assistant Heath, by John G. Woods, Supt. of Mails in the Louisville, Ky., post-office, to determine the right heads of departments have to remove officials in the classified civil service, as are the gentlemen directly concerned. A temporary restraining order, forbidding the removal of Wood was granted returnable last Saturday, and directing the Postmaster General and his first assistant to show cause why it should not be made perpetual. The hearing was postponed one week from that date. A test case is to be made as both sides wish to have the matter definitely settled by a decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, so no matter how the case may be decided, an appeal will be taken, and when the case gets on the docket of the Supreme Court, Attorney General McKenna will move to have it advanced for early hearing. It is also expected that the case will be so handled in the Supreme Court as to get a decision that will cover other points of the civil service law than the one directly presented by this case. It is highly desirable that heads of departments should know the exact extent of their authority over their sudordinates.

M. Patenotre, the French Ambassador, has been consulting with Secretary Sherman with a view to securing a reduction in some of the duties imposed by the Dingley tariff upon products of France, by a commercial agreement between the two countries, The articles upon which he is especially [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ties are bran [illegible] [illegible] ine and vermouth, and paintings, drawing and statuary, and the reductions asked for will average about 25 per cent. The President has authority to grant the reductions without the formality of a treaty whenever in his judgment there are satisfactory reasons for doing so; all that is needed to put them into effect being a proclamation by the President. The Dingley tariff also provides for reciprocity treaties, but they must be ratified by the Senate and approved by the House after they are negotiated, before they become binding. This is the first time that the House of Representatives has been recognized as a part of the treaty-making machinery of the government.

Those who are offering to sell the information about examinations, etc., which the civil service commission furnishes to all applicants therefore free, have grown so numerous that the commission has issued an announcement containing the following explicit language: "No person has any information of importance to applicants, concerning examinations which cannot be obtained without cost from the commission. All claims to the contrary, therefore, are misrepresentations."

Naval official believe that the sending of the battle-ship Indiana to Halifax to be docked will, after all, be a good thing, because they think it will convince Congress of the necessity of providing for ample docking facilities of our own. It is hoped that it will not be necessary to send any more war ships to Halifax to be docked.

In deference to a complaint made by the Swiss minister, Secretary Sherman has written a letter to the Governor of Iowa, quoting the following provisions from the treaty between the United States and Switzerland: "No higher impost under whatever name shall be exacted of the citizens of one of the two countries residing or established in the other than shall be levied upon the citizens of the country in which they reside, nor any contribution, whatever, to which the latter shall not be liable. The Swiss minister claims that Iowa has laid a tax upon the premium income of European Insurance companies greater than the tax imposed upon the premium income of American Insurance companies, and that the same is a violation of the treaty rights of Switzerland.

Attorney General McKenna will make public his opinion of the construction that should be placed upon the clause of the Dingley tariff law, imposing discriminating duties, which Secretary Gage has asked for, just as soon as he prepares it. It is not true that he has delayed the opinion to await the return of President McKinley. Its too important a matter to be disposed of off-handed, even to stop the senseless clamor for an immediate decision which certain enemies of the Dingley law are making. No interests will suffer by a little delay.

DEMOCRATS HAVE A RACY TIME.

Old Fashioned Free Fight at the Reading Convention.

BRYANISM AND FREE SILVER ARE ENDORSED.

In the Mix-up Delegates Are Pushed Off the Stage, Thrown Out of Windows, and Revolvers Are Drawn.

The proceedings of the Democratic state convention, held at Reading last week, have caused everyone calling himself a Democrat to blush with shame. Never before in the state were such disgraceful scenes enacted by a representative body of men. The whole proceeding indicates not only the deplorable lack of leadership, but the complete disintegration of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania. When such grave differences of opinion exist in a political party that require a free fight and general knockdown to settle, it is time for the self respecting and conservative element of that party to seek guidance and acquire affiliation elsewhere. This thousands of Democrats will do this fall, and it would not be surprising to see the Republican majority even greater than last year. They feel outraged that their party leaders cannot seat delegates and adopt a platform without engaging in a free fight and flourishing revolvers, the riot only ceasing when a detachment of policemen appeared on the scene.

The platform adopted endorses Bryan and free silver, and the gold Democrats of the state are in a huff. They are so incensed that they discussed the advisability of placing a separate ticket in the field, but finally decided not to make an expensive and hopeless fight at this time. This means that thousands of them will quietly vote the Republican ticket.

We print below from some leading papers comments on the late Democratic, free silver, free fight, Bryan-Garman convention:

It Became Hopeless Lunacy.

From the Philadelphia Press.

"There are Republicans who are inclined to criticise their party, but their criticisms are silenced in the face of such an exhibition as the Democratic state convention gave on Tuesday. Here met the leaders—the accredited spokesmen and representatives of the Democrats of Pennsylvania—and we have the result. A free fight that would have disgraced a collection of roughs in the worst ward of the city. In fact, such a disorderly and riotous meeting would not have been permitted in Philadelphia. The police would have pulled the fighting delegates out of the hall as soon as they became riotous. The presence of an efficient police force in and around a convention is much objected to by some people as an interference with the rights of citizens. It does prevent free fights such as characterized the Reading convention. We have never seen that the police interfered with free speech o a free vote.

"It may be claimed that it was an unruly minority which changed the convention hall into a bedlam a nd t ne delegates into a shouting, s truggl ing mob. It was the triumphant majo rity, however, that in this year of gra ce reaffirmed the allegiance of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania to the broken and discredit ed idol of free silver. What was folly last year with hard times and 50 cen t silver dol lars became hopeless luna y with th e improving times, dollar wheat and 0 cent dollars. 'We are rmly and nalterably opposed,' says the platfor m, 'to the single gold standard, which has been the direct cause of the fin ancial distress that has followed upon our people since its adoption.' This r t and falsehood deceived some vot ers last year. It has been disproved by events. We had supposed no one would be silly enough to put it forth s eriously this year. We had not yet hea rd from the Garman-Guffey wing of the Democratic party of Pennsylva nia.

"The Democratic party has been often compar ed to a man riding backwards in the cars and seeing nothing until it is pa st. This comparison does not apply to the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, as it implies some progress; but the Reading platform shows the party standing hopelessly still with its face set to the everlasting night, only solicitous to drive out of the party all who appear to be less blind and stupid than the rest.

"It is unfortunate in some respects for the Republican party in Pennsylvania that it is denied the stimulus and discipline which an intelligent and well directed opposition party would give it. The Republican majority has been steadily increasing year by year until it has reached 300,000. There are some Republicans who think that this is big enough and that any more would be superfluous. The Reading Democratic convention did what it could to make the Republican majority go beyond even the superfluous."

Democratic Principles Vindicated.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

We read in some of the free silver papers that claim to be Democratic that Democratic principles have been vindicated by the Reading convention. What were the principles upheld in this somewhat interesting gathering?

First of all there was a theft of delegates, a pure steal. What particular Democratic principle was involved in this thievery?

Then there was mob law. There will be some Democrats to protest that mob law is not a fundamental dectrine of the Democratic party.

Then there was gag rule, and plenty of it. Nothing like free speech was permitted. If gag rule is a part of the Democratic belief then it was surely upheld.

The convention went wild over the dishonest dollar. This must be a new principle, for only a year ago the Dem-in their embrace. All the dissatisfied elements in America have turned up somehow in this vortex. It is c ious, but nevertheless true, that if t is a crankism or a craze it is su e to be found revolving around free silver.

Find an anarchist, and you discover a free silver man. All free silv er men are not anarchists by any me ns, but all anarchists are free silver men. Find a communist, and he is an advocate of a bogus dollar. Scratch he back of a Populist, and you unc ver free silver. Those unique persons who believe in government pawnsho ps, where everything grown in the soil can be placed in hock, are all sincere followers of Bryanism. Those who oppose law and order and the c ourts are the loudest shouters for dishonest money.

For a year the Democratic party of Pennsylvania has been sailing down the rapids. It has reached its legitimate end at last in the deadly whirlpool, with Mr. Garm an as its pilot. The party might have weathered the gales of November had it only been true to itself and collected its scattered remnants for a new trial, but it never can recove r from the wreckage which Mr. Garman has brought upon it.

Some May Have Been Anarchists.

From the Williamsport Bulletin.

The disgraceful scenes attending the Democratic state convention at Reading have aroused the indignation of all law abiding, conservative voters who respect decency even in politics. When men sent to represent a district in a state gathering become drunk and disorderly, draw revolvers and have to be thrown bodily from the stage it is no wonder people of sensitive feelings blush with shame. The Democracy of Pennsylvania is to be pitied for some of the material that composed the membership of that convention. It was more like a gathering of the lawless and inclined some to the belief that a few anarchists succeeded in getting themselves elected as delegates. Let us hope that state political conventions of the future will not be attended by such disgraceful scenes.

Too Shrewd to Be Slaughtered.

From the Philadelphia Record.

The logical candidates who should have been named for auditor general and state treasurer by the Reading convention were Garman and Guffey. They are both hustlers, as extreme in their views as the platform which was made to represent their views. They are both men of reputation and substance and of engaging personality. But visionary as they are on the money question, and bold as they are in pushing forward other men to stand the hazard of the die whilst they deal the cards, they are too shrewd to lead where they bid others follow. They devolve the leadership upon Ritter and Brown. Should these gentlemen decline the honor thrust upon them the state committee should take no denial, but straightway put Garman and Guffey in the field.

They are the logical candidates.

Woman's Diseases

Are as peculiar as unavoidable; and cannot be discussed or treated as we do those to which the entire human family are subject. Menstruation sustains such important relations to her health, that when Suppressed, Irregular or Painful, she soon becomes languid, nervous and irritable, the bloom leaves her cheek and very grave complications arise unless Regularity and Vigor are restored to these organs.

Bradfield's Female Regulator Is a receipt of one of the most noted physicians of the South, where troubles of this sort prevail more extensively than in any other section, and has never failed to correct disordered Menstruation. It restores health and strength to the suffering woman.

"We have for the past thirty years handled Bradfield's Female Regulator, both at wholesale and retail, and in no instance has it failed to give satisfaction. We sell more of it than all other similar remedies combined."

WELL AGAIN.

Cured of a lingering disease. Enjoying the luxuries of health after years of sickness. Free once more from the clutches of merciless ailments. Walking again on the green earth in the fresh air, among the beauties of Nature, after long confinement in bed to the dingy sick room, where hope and joy are unknown. Well again. Never did an executive pardon bring greater pleasure to despondent prisoner than these words bring to the bedfast invalid.

Dr. Hartman cures many such people by correspondence, free of charge. Here is one of the many letters which the doctor receives from grateful patients. Mrs. Benolt, 131 Pleasant street, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "I employed three physicians, but they did not help me at all. I finally gave up doctors, but continued to grow worse. I was so miserable I wished I was dead. Life had no pleasures for me. Four bottles of Pe-ru-na cured me. I am stout and well, and feel years younger."

Dr. Hartman has recently written a book expressly for women. This book is intended to show what a boon Pe-ru-na is to sick women, especially those suffering from any phase or stage of female trouble. A free copy of this book will be sent to women only by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Fall and Winter Millinery: "Tam O'Shanter" Crowns: New Wool Fabrics: Styles in Making: Colors.

In looking over Fall and Winter millinery, one is immediately impressed with the predominance of velvet and chenille, and the latter interwoven with "satin braid" straw in hundreds of different designs from one to four inches wide to be sewn together in fancy shapes, forms the basis of many stylish hats. Another lovely millinery material is of inch and a half wide ribbon joined together with two or three rows of chenille concealing the seam, and being very pliable, is readily fashioned into any desired style it comes in two crown pieces or braids, and still more beautiful is the combination of mousseline-de-soie and chenille, usually of one color. "Tam O'Shanters" made of either material and drawn high on one side with a jaunty feather will heighten the loveliness of fair faces, and modifications of this style with brims, constitute the irregular outlines, so becoming to older persons.

SOFT CROWNS

will be almost universal, if the number and variety of spangled velvet crowns now exhibited are any criterion, and tasteful contrasts are the prevailing idea. Plain velvet enjoys immense favor supplemented by ostrich feathers, and plumage of every kind, especially ecru and brown combined, as in pheasant or owl feathers, and the same fancy is carried out in beads and spangles on black velvet crowns. Felt hats bear the proportion to velvet of about one to twenty, and those few are weighed down with velvet and plumes. Large or small steel buckles are equally useful and in the way of flowers, only the largest roses or orchids are in demand.

THE MOST ATTRACTIVE NOVELTY

in wool dress fabrics, is bordered dress lengths of seven yards, having either self-colored satin stripes or gay Scotch plaid borders, the latter so wide as to suggest the possibility of a waist being made of the plaid with a skirt of the plain material. As is usual at this season, plaids are up again, and although lovely combinations of crimson and black attract one's fancy, or those in other colors shaded by black camel's hair; yet the prudent shopper will remember to how few plaids are really suitable, and how pronounced a plaided costume always is; but even if new fashions are alluring, the garments belonging to a waning season should be looked after, and soon now, all good managers will have their colored embroidered batiste or organdy dresses and waists washed with Ivory soap and laid away, thus ensuring their bright colors or pale shades for another season.

PLAIN MATERIALS

enjoys renewed prestige, and broadcloth, camel's hair, wool surahs (with a satin finish) Cheviot serges and in fact all plain-colored stuffs are in such beauty and variety that scarcely a doubt can be felt as to their firm footing for this season at least.

Much is expected of fancy black passementerie or braiding as it is called this season, and certainly nothing can be more appropriate for plain fabrics, yet it was not a success last Spring. New illustrations show braiding even on plaids with skirts and sleeves just about as they now are, but in dresses made of bordered fabrics, in several cases the border runs up the side sometimes to the shoulder, and also trims the sleeve cap and lower sleeve. A great many loose fronts are noticeable in these illustrations, but it is still too early to be absolutely sure as to Fashion's caprices.

THE OLD FASHION

shade of blue has been revived, which should be good news for everybody as it is so generally becoming, and the only color which can lay any claim to novelty is a light shade of "Jockey Club" the bluish purple introduced last Spring. The brown shades are prominent, crimson holds its own, cerise is always welcome and green occupies a large territory. Brunettes would be in despair without pink, and this charming color enlivens a new gray. Black and white placed together are particularly stylish in millinery, when the range of color is alway widest and sharp cantrasts as a rule, have given place to several shades of one color, or delicate combinations.

The '98 Wheel

Views on bicycles of next year's model are numerous says the New York Sun. In 1897 the price attracted more attention than the wheel, but in 1898 the money question will be subordinate. The standard price will be somewhere we suppose between $75 and $50. Chainless wheels will surely be prominent next spring, promising to put the greasy chain wheels completely out of mind. Tubing next year will be about the same as it is now. Gears of high, low and medium size will be on the market for choice, but during this season the liking for high gears has developed greatly, probably as the result of the greater strength which practice has brought to the average leg.

The radical genius, who is being heard from, asserts that the 1898 bicycle will be operated by either the arms or legs. This sounds more cranky than interesting.

The wheel's most vulnerable point, its tire, is being studied and experimented with, with ardent desire for its improvement and with no little hope. It must be possible to put into the rubber some element that would lessen its slipping on wet pavements; and it seems absurd that wheels destined to pass over jagged roads should be left so puncturable. A less puncturable tire and a tire which, when inflated, will remain full indefinitely is greatly needed.

In spite of the promise of 1898, however, owners of good bicycles needn't worry. A good bicycle to-day will be good next year,

CORRESPONDENCE

Unionville Happenings.

On Thursday evening, September 2d, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Eckenroth, about a mile from town, was the scene of happiness and festivity, it being the occasion of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary, to Edward J. Williams. The wedding was a quiet one, only the near relatives of both families being present. Both parties are well and favorably known in this vicinity. The bride is a young lady of intelligence and refinement. The groom is an industrious and well educated young man. They will commence housekeeping at once in Unionville, where Mr. Williams will teach the Intermediate school. Their many friends wish them a long and prosperous wedded life.

On Sunday afternoon the cornerstone of the United Evangelical church was laid. The services were held in the M. E. church. Rev. Goble, D. D., of New Berlin, Pa., president of the Central Penna. College, preached the sermon; Rev. Buckingham, and Rev. Heiney, the pastor in charge, were also present. After the sermon the congregation repaired to the site of the new church building, where the cornerstone was laid with due ceremony.

On Monday morning our schools opened with the following teachers: Grammar school, J. H. Harpster; Intermediate, E. J. Williams; Primary, Miss Effie Holt.

Close of the C. E. Convention at Howard.

Thursday meetings began with a sunrise prayer meeting at 6 o'clock with nearly a hundred in attendance the meeting was led by Miss Louise Hensyl.

The next meeting was called at 9:15 by the new president Robert H Irwin, the prayer service was led by Miss E. K. Long, a telegram announceing the inability of Rev. Hepler to be present until afternoon on account of the train breaking down on the Lewisburg R. R. but, the time was ably filled in by parliment on local work, led by the Revs. Thompson and Hollenbauch of Williamsport and Rev. Means of Philipsburg, many others exchanged their ideas which were very helpfnl. Then Rev. Hal, Orbison gave a very interesting talk on missionary work.

The morning session was then brought to a close by a very pretty hymn and prayer.

The meeting was called to order again at 1:15, the prayer service was led by D. Allison Irwin, and at 1:50 the county roll was called by the president, at 2 p. m. the junior rally in which quite a number of little servants of Christ took charge of the program under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Long, of Howard and Miss Rose Levy of Milesburg, one of the little junior delegates from Milesburg sang a very beautiful solo. Miss Anna Hensyl then sang a solo, Miss E. J. Stroop then opened a parliment on committee work a good many delegates joined in and exchanged their views.

Rev. J. J. Hollenbauch then gave a very interesting talks on the great necessiety of junior work. The convention was very agreeably surprised when Rev. Dr. Bright of Philipsburg, a man chosen of God a God fearing man stepped forward to the organ and sang a most beautiful solo which was appreciated by every one.

In the evening, praise service began at 7:15 led by Emanuel Markle 7:45 an address by F. H. Cota, and a solo by Milton Derr, after which Samuel Taylor took charge of the consecration meeting. The service all through was certainly spiritual and beneficial to all present, and every one seemed to be deeply impressed with the solemity of the hour, A request was sent in to have Rev Bright sing again with which he very willing responded, by singing a consecration solo in a very sweet and touching manner, after the singing of Mr. Bright this grand convention was brought to a close by singing a hymn and repeating the C. E. benediction.—From a correspondent.

A Newly Discovered Use for Old Papers.

The latest use to which old newspapers may be put, is to soak them in sour milk until reduced to pulp and feed the mixture to the hens. This is the unpatented invention of a Michigan poultry fancier, who says it greatly increases their egg laying abilities. WAYNESBORO'S DAY.

The Old Town Grows in Fullness Over Its Centennial.

GOVERNORS DINE TOGETHER

The Heads of Pennsylvania and Maryland Break Bread and Have a Good Time Generally—A Big Parade a Feature.

EVERYBODY WAS WELL PLEASED

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Sept. 1.—This was Governors' Day" here. The Governors of Pennsylvania and Maryland dined together at Buena Vista last night, and to-day came to Waynesboro to participate in the exercises. This was really the Centennial day of the town. It was inaugurated with the ringing of bells, the blowing of whistles and the roar of cannon. The visiting organizations, firemen, Grand Army of the Republic posts, and secret societies and sightseers began arriving early and crowded the town.

One of the notable events of the day was the unveiling of the soldiers' granite monument, erected by the Woman's Relief corps.

T. C. McCarrell, of Waynesboro, delivered the opening address and President Judge John Stewart, of this county, followed. He paid a fervent eulogy to the old soldiers "who helped to save the country which had been so gloriously wrested from monarchy the previous century."

Rev. Herman S. Cook, of Waynesboro, pronounced the benediction.

There were 2,000 men in line of parade this afternoon, among them the National Guard, the Grand Army veterans, the firemen, and detachments of Red Men and Golden Eagles from Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia. Major John M. Wolf was chief marshal, and the parade was reviewed by Governors Hastings and Lowndes. In Governor Hastings' party were Secretary Latta, Auditor General Mylin, State Treasurer Haywood, Colonels Reynolds and Trexler, and Captain Paxton.

The Maryland Executive was accompanied by Adjutant General Allison Wilmer and Colonels Gerald T. Hopkins and H. B. Wilcox.

Governor Hastings, in a lengthy speech, attributed much of the success of the country to the union of church and state and public schools. He said he believed ignorant foreigners should be excluded unless they bowed down to our flag and institutions as Hindoos to the idol, and urged his hearers to so continue their devotion and faithfulness to aid in making the country still greater. If they did not, he would not want to think that Waynesboro could reach her second centennial.

In the course of his speech the Governor said that when Penn established the boundaries of the state he should have gone further west into Ohio, so that it could have had a presidential candidate who could be elected.

Governor Lowndes spoke of the close relations between the two states and encouraged the Waynesboro people, "In whom all Marylanders took much interest," to continue their progress, industrial and intellectual. Both the governors, with their parties, left this evening.

The day ended with a bicycle parade and concert. To morrow there will be a trades display and the biggest crowd of the week is expected.

High License, Surely.

Oregon has hit upon a new expedient to keep her citizens sober. Every man who drinks is obliged to take out a license costing five dollars a year and unless armed with this document he cannot be served with liquor at any saloon or hotel, Every six months the names of the persons who take out the license are to be published in the local paper, so that the public may know who they are, and those who are not authorized to drink. This is certainly a unique plan and somewhat startling.

Civil Progress in Cuba.

Cuba has been the scene during the last week of events which conclusively demonstrate the steady advance of the patriot cause. The revolutionary forces have held elections for representatives to the general assembly which is to meet on September 2nd to elect a president of the Cuban republic in place of Cisneros, whose term is about to expire. The balloting extended to every province of the island and to every division of the army, and when the total vote is announced it is likely to surprise both the friends and the enemies of Cuban liberty.

The returns of the provinces already heard from are remarkable. In the province of Havana the Cubans in arms polled 5,043 votes; in Pinar del Rio 6,800 and in Matanzas 2,200. These returns only partly indicate the strength of the revolutionary forces in those districts, for it is to be understood that while the larger portion of the troops were voting considerable bodies of them were performing their regular daily task of thrashing the Spaniards, and thus had no time to go to the ballot box.

These three provinces of Havana, Pinar del Rio and Matanzas are the ones which Weyler has persistently reported as permanently "pacified" and in which his inhuman policy of concentration and starvation has produced its most decisive results. Yet even in this territory, dotted as it is with Spanish garrisons and blackened with the smoking ruin wrought by Spanish incendiarism, more than 14,000 revolutionists march to the polls on a given day and cast their votes for civil authority and free government.

The significance of this proceeding is that the Cubans, while still pressing victoriously forward with their military operations, are at the same time building the solid foundations of popular institutions. Their civil government has already taken form and character, and it is being conducted along the orderly lines of the great republic whence it has derived both its model and its inspiration. As against the civil and military chaos into which Weyler's brutal administration is rapidly drifting, the steady progress of the Cubans not only in their war policy, but also in political development, stands out in vivid and hopeful contrast.

The contest in Cuba has become a mighty struggle for the survival of the fittest, and measuring the Spaniards by their own standards and the Cubans by theirs, the judgment of mankind, supported by the course of events in the island, is that the conflict must end in victory for the revolutionary arms.—New York Mail and Express.

Thought to be Drowned.

LONDON, September 3.—Four skiffs left Fair Isle, between the Orkney and Shetland islands, on Thursday to barter produce with passing vessels. The skiffs were overtaken by a gale, but two returned safely. One of the other boats was found the next morning. In it were the bodies of four men and its three other occupants were almost dead from exhaustion.

The remaining boat has not been seen and it is believed that its four occupants have all been drowned.

A Good Preventive.

Every summer after the storing of hay and grain crops we hear of barn fires, the origin of which being unknown, is ascribed to incendiarism, though doubtless if the real cause could be ascertained, it would be found that they were the result of spontaneous combustion, owing to hay or other new crops while in process of fermentation involving heat sufficient to produce fire. If farmers wish to prevent their hay stacks or barns from firing, they need only scatter a few handfuls of common salt between the layers. The theory is that the salt by absorbing the humidity of the hay not only prevents its fermentation and consequent heating, but it also adds a salty taste to this forage, which all cattle like, and besides it stimulates the appetite and assists their digestion and so preserves them from any disease.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

There Is No Tendency Except on the Upward Scale.

VOLUME OF WORK INCREASING

As a Consequence, So Also Is The Volume of Business, as Merchants Can Now Proceed to Formulate Plans.

REPORTS FROM TWO AGENCIES.

NEW YORK, September 3.—Dun & Co's weekly review of trade to-morrow will say:

The volume of business here has been distinctly large in textile goods phenomenally large, though slackening this week, buyers having nearly completed their initial purchasers. With an extraordinary movement in grain, heavy real estate and building transactions and increased business in iron products, the month was clearly the busiest August ever known.

Wheat continued its reaction until it had fallen 4 cents more, but then rose 3 cents with the first revival of foreign buying. Western receipts are very large, though not quite as large as a year ago, but Atlantic exports, flour included, rose to 5,534,758 bushels for the week against 2,175,453 last year. The estimates which command confidence still indicate a yield of 550,000,000 to 580,000,000 bushels, winter wheat, turning out so much beyond expectations as to balance much of the loss in spring wheat. Foreign accounts do not improve and unless much more deceptive than usual, the demand for American wheat will far exceed the quantity which can be spared. Continued large exports of corn, and buying for export, show still more clearly the extent of deficiencies abroad. Western receipts for the week were 10,065,470 bushels against 3,160,319 last year and such a movement at this season implies a great export demand not yet reflected in outgo.

Trade in cotton and wool continues active. The improvement in the iron and steel industry gained momentum, and a further advance in prices makes 4.56 per cent. from the lowest average August 12. The demand increases for sheets and plates, especially for bridge and ship building, including 10,000 tons at Philadelphia, in structural work, of which it is said that 20,000 tons have been placed at Chicago, in bars, and especially in wire and wire nails, and all have advanced an average of $1 per ton. Southern and western dealers have united to advance prices of pig 25 cents. Bessemer at Pittsburg has risen 10 cents and eastern markets are stronger. The demand for cars is pressing and work for railways increases. The first shipment of steel rails from this country to Australia was of 2,000 tons by the Lackawanna Iron company. Tin is slightly lower at 13.65 cents, but heavy exports, said to cover 15,000,000 pounds for the next three months, sustain copper at 11¼ and lead is strong at 4.10.

Failures for the past week have been 191 in the United States against 334 last year and 25 against 31 in Canada.

NEW YORK, September 3,—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say: Previous activity in all lines of trade is maintained. There is a better tone in demand from jobbers and the volume of business in wool, leather, clothing, hats, groceries and light hardware has increased. There is a better request for woolen and cotton goods, jewelry and rubber goods, and for boots and shoes. Some wholesale merchants at western centres report the largest volume of August trade on record. There has been an increased consumption of coal by southern mills. Western iron and steel mills have orders to keep them busy until January 1. In the central western states the bituminous coal strike has had a further depressing effect on the general industrial situation. At the northwest some commercial houses have had to work over time to meet the demand for goods, and the warm weather is reported to have practically assured the Indian corn crop. On the Pacific coast wheat exports have been checked by inability to secure crews for vessels. Mercantile collections have greatly improved in some sections.

Only Furnishing Flour.

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Sept. 2.—The government has cut off all rations to the Apache Indians except flour. They are threatening an uprising and the settlers near the reservation are very much exercised. There are about 300 Indians on the Apache reservation.

THE now regularly employed workmen, who are at least having an opportunity to pay up their back bills and who now begin to feel themselves "on their feet," have come as near to free silver as they desire. They have also seen enough of the beauties of free trade.

Senator Mullen Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—State Senator Joseph Mullen, of Watertown, died here to-day. In the Senate at Albany Mr. Mullen took high rank as a man of ability. He was connected with several banking and manufacturing concerns in his section of the state.

THE WHALE AND THE CREED.

Religious fights I always did bewail,
'Tis something hat I never take a start in.
I hate to see good people rant and rail
Of things on which no one should feel too "sartin;"
So this dispute 'twix Jonah and the whale
It's hard to see how one can take much heart in,
And get his feelings all torn up and nettled
About a thing that never can be settled.

I have a friend as old as he can be,
His legs are wabbly and his head is hoary,
Who in a thousand ways has shown to me
A faith implicit in the Jonah story;
His old wife with him scarcely can agree,
She says it is an ancient allegory.
And he, in peace, permits his wife to doubt it,
Though years ago they quarreled some about it.

The Bible is a book that I adore
For precepts found within its sacred pages;
Oft when I'm sad I turn its pages o'er
And read the record of departed sages;
But matters in dispute, alas, no more
My way-worn and distracted mind engages,
Like Jonah and the whale and Noah's landing
And things that tax my feeble understanding.

I read instead what I can understand,
The story of a Father's love, undying,
The promise of another, better land
Beyond this vale of pain and want and sighing,
A mansion in a city great and grand,
The glory of man's highest art outvying,
Where wickedness can come to torture never
And weary souls can rest in peace forever.

And while I don't bank much on any creed
And doctrines taught by schools ecclesiastic
I gather comfort from the things I read,
It makes my heart more mellow-like and plastic.
I cannot follow where some teachers lead,
Nor take their theologic potions drastic;
And this is all my creed, awake or sleeping,
The Lord is good, and I am in His keeping.

A LOVE CHASE.

"To-morrow on the Paris?" cried Carter, dropping his cane on the pavement with a resounding thud.

"Yes, to-morrow," said I, gazing with astonishment on my friend, for my commonplace gossip had apparently perturbed him greatly. "The whole family are going to sail, and they will be away for a year. It's very sudden."

"Sudden! I should say so!" he exclaimed. He looked thoughtfully up the avenue for a moment, then stammered, "Miss Margaret, too?"

"Yes."

Thereupon he hailed a passing cab, and before I could get another word with him dived into the vehicle and quickly disappeared with it.

Carter is not a bad fellow. He is exceedingly modest. This is a most unusual characteristic for a young man who is spending a fortune gathered by another's talents, but to so great a degree does he possess it that it seemed to him impossible that Margaret Walcott should look upon him with other than indifference or even repugnance.

"Why, Vandergust," he said to me, one Sunday afternoon, when he had dropped in on his way to her house, "it's ridiculous to suppose that a bright young girl like that could care for a fellow like me—a fellow who doesn't know anything, who has not a striking point except money—when there are so many men with brains about."

But, acting on my advice, he actually started to propose that very afternoon.

"Miss Walcott," he began, as they sat by a fireplace in the drawing-room, talking commonplaces, "I'm in love."

"Really! How interesting!" cried the girl, calmly leaning toward him and gazing at him, awaiting the rest of his revelations.

There was a long silence, during which Carter carefully drew his left glove on his right hand. Having recovered his courage, he continued naively—"I know who it's with. Do you know who it's with?"

"Yourself," she cried, clasping her hands as though she had made a wonderful discovery.

"Oh, dear, no! Never!" he stammered. "Positively not. You really don't think so, do you?"

"I was just guessing," she replied, soothingly.

"Guess again," said he quickly.

"With Livia Vandergust," ventured Miss Walcott after she had given the matter due consideration, gazing meditatively into the fire, thus unconsciously showing to Carter the fine profile of her face, which glowed in the red light of the coals.

"Don't accuse me of it," cried my friend, in a deprecating tone that was most uncomplimentary to my charming cousin. "Guess somebody nearer home."

And the foolish fellow kept her guessing the name of every girl in town but the right one until the maid brought in Derby's card.

Was it a wonder that, knowing these facts, I smiled when I saw Carter dash away in a cab after I had imparted to him the news? It was sufficient to send him up the steps of the Walcott house in three bounds when his cab drew up there. Miss Walcott was out. "At teas?" he ventured to inquire of the maid. "Yes." Here arose a predicament. He knew of no less than five that afternoon. But he had heard that she was to be at the Trumptons' dinner that night, and his sole chance of seeing her lay in finding her that very afternoon or following her over [illegible]

So he started in at Mrs. J. Anderson Oglesby's and most perfunctorily paid his respects to that energetic woman and her extremely plain daughter. Then he searched every corner of the crowded drawing-rooms, and even took a surreptitious glance into the butler's pantry.

"Isn't that Miss Walcott yonder?" he said to the young girl who was pouring tea, indicating a mass of black hair that was conspicuous in the crush.

"Why, no," she cried, gazing at him in astonishment. "She has light hair. And, besides, she left hours ago. I should think——"

The rest of the remark was lost on my friend, who dashed from the room and the house and was off in his cab once more.

He searched in vain for her at the Partridges', the Joneses' and the Van Blunders' and at length reached the house of my aunt, who was on that afternoon performing the arduous physical labor of introducing her daughter to society. Great, indeed, was my cousin's astonishment when Bennington Carter was announced, for she knew that he abhorred teas. But greater still was her amazement when he let fall the hand she held out to him, turned suddenly, craned his neck so as to see over the knot of women about the door and dashed madly from the room.

Carter had seen her at last, but it was only a glimpse as the door closed upon her. He rushed up the stairs to the dressing room and bounded down again to his cab.

"Which way did Miss Walcott's carriage go?" he cried to the man who called his conveyance for him.

"Up Fifth avenue, sir," replied that astonished man.

"After it!" exclaimed Carter, jumping in and slamming the door.

The bewildered Jehu swung his vehicle around the corner and dashed up the avenue, crowded with carriages. Eight blocks, however, told on the beast, and the driver found it expedient to draw up at the curb and hold a colloquy with his fare.

"So you have lost it, eh?" cried Carter, angrily.

"Yes, sir," replied the cabby. He tipped his hat most respectfully in the hope of mollifying the angry man.

Carter threw himself moodily back in the seat and for a time was silent. It was already dark. The pavement was filled with people hurrying home after the day's work. He had visited every place where he could have hoped to find her, yet lost her. Of a sudden he leaned through the window and to the cabby said, "Do you see any awnings about here?"

The man pierced the gloom with his eyes and at length pointed meaningly with his whip down a side street to a residence in front of which a score of carriages were gathered and an awning stretched from curb to curb.

"At it!" cried the fare.

Carter quickly ascended the steps of the strange house, boldly passed the servants in the hall, left his coat and hat up stairs and returned to the drawing-room.

"Carter, Carter, Carter?" muttered the overdressed but kindly looking woman who greeted him there, tapping him on the arm with her fan and giving him a hearty shake of the hand. "I'm delighted to see you, Mr. Carter."

"It was awfully kind of you to come," said the slender young girl at her side, as he formally greeted her. And when he passed on she whispered to her mother: "I'm sure I didn't send him cards. Why, it's Bennington Carter!"

My friend forced his way through a crowd of people he did not know and muttered imprecations on himself for wasting precious time at such a place. She would never be here. He would slip out at once. What! Could he believe his eyes? Yonder she sat in a cozy corner of the dining-room, a tall young man bending over her.

"Why, Mr. Carter!" she cried, as he rushed breathlessly up to her.

"How in the world did you happen to come here?" he exclaimed.

"S-sh!" The young man moved away, and she whispered apologetically, "Close business friends of my father's. But pray what brought you here?"

"I followed you."

"Shadowed me! That was very polite of you."

"But I wanted you to guess some more," he stammered.

"Oh!" The girl blushed deeply and fixed her eyes on the carpet.

"Be quick," he said.

"Ethel VanBlunder," said she, in a scarcely audible voice. She half arose from her chair.

Carter glanced behind him and saw Denby pushing his way through the crush about the tea table. "Oh, hurry!" he blurted out. "You must guess before you sail, or I'll never be hap—"

"I've guessed," she said demurely. "I'm very glad to see you, Mr. Denby."

"I've followed you all over town," exclaimed Denby, totally oblivious of the presence of his despised rival. "But at last——"

"I'm so sorry," she said, moving toward the drawing-room. "I'm so late now that really I must be going. But Mr. Carter, I really forgot. Let me remind you that we expect you to dinner at seven. You can tell me all about it then."

THE WHEELS OF HEALTH.

There is no better exercise for a young woman in thoroughly good health than bicycling. On the contrary, if she suffers from weakness or disease of the distinctly feminine organs, if she rides, at all, such exercise should be very sparingly indulged in. Women are peculiarly constituted and their general health is peculiarly dependent upon the health of the specially feminine organism.

It is the health of these delicate and important parts that "makes the wheels of general health go round." Their strength and vigor are as important to a woman as a mainspring to a watch, or a sprocket and chain to a bicycle. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for delicate women. It makes them strong where they most need strength. Taken during the "interesting interval," it banishes the usual squeamishness and makes baby's admission to the world easy and almost painless. It fits a woman for in-door work and out-door sports. Honest druggists don't advise substitutes.

"I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as it has undoubtedly saved my life," writes Mrs. Florence Hunter, of Corley, Logan Co., Ark. "I miscarried four times; could get no medicine to do me any good. I tried the 'Favorite Prescription' and after taking several bottles, I made my husband a present of a fine girl. I think it is the best medicine in the world."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers.

Importation of German Birds.

In the years 1889 and 1892 a society in Portland, Ore., introduced 400 pairs of song birds from Germany into that State at an expense of little more than $2,000.

They multiplied with great rapidity, from two to four broods every year, so that the whole Willamette Valley, from Portland to Roseburg, is full of them.

When it is remembered that the insects and fungus diseases most dangerous for our vegetation are those which have been imported into this country from abroad, and that animals and birds which are held in check by some balance of forces in their native land often become a nuisance in a foreign country, just as rabbits have been in Australia and English sparrows in this country, it is possible that some of these songsters may prove injurious to crops. The chances are, however, that they will do more to help the farmer by keeping insects in check than they will to injure him.—Detroit Free Press.

CRUCIFIED HIMSELF.

Bound Hoping to Save the World, Nailed Himself to the Cross.

From far away Kamloope, in British Columbia, comes the strange story of the self-crucifixion of James Bound, a carpenter, whose religious exaltation became acute mania. He believed himself called upon to emulate the Divine Atonement, and by a lingering death upon the cross lift the burden of sin from the world.

He proclaimed himself as a Messiah. He entered upon his mission in his thirtieth year, as Jesus did. To the grinning crowd, whom his disordered fancy made apostles, he cried:

"Ye who crucify me shall not be cursed. I have had a vision from God, and he has shown me that this atonement shall be made without a betrayal, without a Judas. Your hands will not be stained with blood money. It is to the redemption of the world that I bid you come. The glory shall be mine, but ye shall behold it. To-morrow ye shall nail me to the cross."

That night he made and planted the cross. The next day he stood before it and awaited the arrival of those who he believed would assist him in his martyrdom. But they came not, and he went into town to remonstrate with them for their lack of faith in his mission. Again and again he waited in vain. At last one Sunday, after taking part in a religious gathering, he returned to the lonely cabin in which he lived, bathed in the adjacent stream, and then with the stoicism or indifference to suffering of the fanatic deliberately took his place on the cross, drove sharp nails through his feet, and with the hammer in his right hand nailed his left hand to an arm of the cross. With a knife he gashed himself in the side. Then he waited for some one to come along and complete the crucifixion.

A man out looking for a strayed horse the next morning found the demented creature, weak from the great loss of blood. The torture seemed to have worked a change in Bound's idea of his mission. The idea that he was called upon to redeem the world seemed to have oozed out with his blood, for as the man drew out the nails and freed him from the crucifix, he said:

"It is foolish to say that a savage can bear more pain and hardship and privation than a white man. I am proving this myself. For weeks I have lived on refuse and the weeds and roots that grow on the edge of the river, and surely I have stood it as well as any savage could. You can see for yourself that I am not wasted."—New York Journal.

INDIA CURRY.

A Hot-Weather Use of the Condiment Not Generally Known to Americans.

The use of that wholesome condiment, curry powder, in the average American family is becoming greater each year. This powder has been in general use in England since the days of Warren Hastings, and Englishmen have become very fond of it, some sprinkling the curry from a holder as an American would pepper upon his food. People living where the heat of the climate makes it necessary to use stimulating condiments in their viands learn quickly to like a curried dish or anything with this powder in it. Perhaps it is not generally known that slices of cold meat or fowl heated in a well-seasoned curry sauce and served for luncheon on a hot summer's day are better for the stomach than cold meats alone. A curry powder is used with great success in seasoning fish sauces and vegetable dishes as well as meats, and a little of this powder in soups adds to their flavor.—New York Sun.

FROM A TRAIN.

An Englishman Who Has Created Some Trouble Takes His Life.

HE TOOK A VERY SHORT ROUTE

Threw Himself From a Fast Passenger Train and the Fact Was Not Discovered for Some Hours.

ELOPED WITH A WEALTHY WOMAN.

CHICAGO, September 3.—Russell Ward, the Englishman who created a sensation a short time ago by eloping with the wife of Millionaire John Bradbury, of Los Angeles, Cal., committed suicide some time during the early morning by throwing himself from a Chicago Northwestern railway train. The fact was not known until hours later, and as the result of a search, which was immediately begun, the body was found at Wheatlands, Ia.

Ward was evidently insane when he threw himself out of the car window, as he had been acting peculiarly for the greater part of the trip, and frequently sent telegrams to all parts of the country. When the train reached Fremont, Neb., he sent a telegram to the police at detective headquarters in Chicago, requesting them to meet the train at the Northwestern depot this morning. The telegram gave the police no information, but the sending of it makes the police believe Ward intended to commit suicide on the train and sent the message for the purpose of having the police find his body when the train arrived in this city.

Ward boarded the train at San Francisco Monday. He was assigned to drawing room B, car 2. He had tickets through to Chicago, but did not display much money. After having been given possession of his apartment in the Pullman car Ward remained away from the other passengers most of the time and spent all his time in his own apartment.

Early yesterday morning he began to show signs of insanity. He flourished two revolvers on the train several times and almost created a panic among the other passengers. He told the conductor of the train who he was and acted in a very peculiar manner. At nearly every stop the train made he would get off and send telegrams. One of the messages he sent to a resident of Los Angeles, Cal., saying that if Mrs. Bradbury wanted him she could come to him, but for the present he would have to go to Egypt and visit his wife. Another telegram was one he sent to Chicago. The latter he sent from Fremont, Neb. Lieutenant Collins received the message and thinking it was in regard to some fugitive from justice he sent an officer to meet the train at the depot. All yesterday and last night Ward acted in a restless manner and frequently left his apartment and created consternation among the passengers by his peculiar actions. He remained up all night and refused to retire until 3 o'clock this morning, when he approached the colored porter and told him he was going to sleep. Ward then went into his room, and when De Kalb, Ill., was reached the porter knocked on the door of Ward's room, but received no answer. He made several efforts to get into the room, but without success, and then abandoned the idea.

One of Two Ways.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidsneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attruted to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention REPUBLICAN and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamptor N. A FINANCIAL SENSATION

Yukon Gold Mining—An Alaska Gold Mining Company with a Capital of $5,000,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4, 1897.—The financial sensation of the week has been the issue of the Joseph Ladoe Gold Mining and Development company of Yukon, with officers at 20 Nassau street, this city. It is understood that this issue is being very heavily subscribed. The striking characters of the company consists in the fact that the properties acquired embrace the holdings of Joseph Ladue, who is the pioneer of the Klondyke, the founder and owner of Dawson City, and who acquired a large amount of the most valuable gold mining property in the Klondyke district. The Directory associated in this company is such as the Honorable Chauncey M. Depew, President of the New York Central railroad; Mr. H. Walter Webb, Mr. W. J. Arkell, Hon. C. H. Maintosh, Her Majesty's Lieutenant Governor of the Northwest Territories; Eli A. Gage, son of the Secretary of the Treasury; and Gen. Thomas L. James, President of the Lincoln National Bank. The company is backed with a capitol of $5,000,000, and it is understood the subscription lists are likely to close inside of a fortnight. Mr. Ladue endured many hardships before striking his fortune. The properties he has acquired are worth many millions.

Noah After the Flood.

The first fruit planted by Noah when he left the ark was the grape, the most healthy of all the products of the earth. All through the Bible we read of grapes and wine from grapes being recommended as the first remedy for the ills of life; but it is pure juice wine, not watered and sugared juice that the Bible refers to.

Sugared wines are highly alcoholic and starchy; the sugar making excess of alcohol and other products not belonging to a healthful wine.

Speer of New Jersey, the oldest wine grower in the United States, has studiously avoided water and sugar or any foreign substance whatever, but has his wine fully matured by great age and careful handling.

Many Insurgents Killed.

HAVANA, September 2.—It was officially announced to-day that a force of 200 Spanish infantry commanded by Captain Cesario Ponton, at sunrise yesterday surprised an insurgent force camped on the heights of Joro, province of Pinar Del Rio, killing twenty-six of the enemy and wounding several others. The Spaniards captured several prisoners, among them being Colonel Jose Palacios, who was wounded. Thirty firearms and a medicine chest also fell into the hands of the government troops.

Another Spanish column, while reconnoitering on the heights of Rubi and Laguna, province of Pinar Del Rio, killed twenty-four insurgents, the official report says. Among the killed, it is further reported, were three insurgent officers.

The Canarias battalion on Friday last, it is just announced from headquarters, surprised an Insurgent camp at Romagosa. The enemy left forty-one men killed, many wounded and a quantity of arms and ammunition on the field. The loss of the Spaniards is alleged to have been insignificant.

Saw Mill Burned.

WELLSBORO, Pa., September 3.—The large saw mill at Marsh Creek, on the Pine Creek railway, owned by E. Malson & Son, was burned today with all the lumber in the yards. The loss is about $20,000, with an insurance of only $3,000 on the property. It is supposed that the fire started from a spark in the mill as it was in operation yesterday.

Justitia Fiat.

From the Detroit Journal.

"He has been indicated for wrecking his bank and I guess he'll be convicted."

"If they convict him, they,ll convict an innocent man."

"Do you know that?"

"It's obvious. If he really wrecked his bank he's rich enough to purchase an acquittal."

Report That Germany will Demand an Explanation Contradicted.

LONDON, September 3.—An official contradiction was issued to-day of the report that Germany will demand an explanation from France on the dispatch sent by the French premier—M. Meline—in reply to the message of the Lorraine society congratulating the government upon the Franco-Russian alliance.

Does Your Heart Flutter?

If so, it's a sign of heart disorder. Don't neglect the symptom. Heart troubles develop insidiously and rapidly. "I have used two bottles of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and have been entirely cured of palpitation and fluttering of the heart. I cannot estimate the value of the great remedy I believe it has saved my life." James Orr, Alliance, O.

No Flim-Flam in Punxsutawney.

A few days ago a man who was enlarging pictures visited the residence of Mart Williams, of this place.

"We are doing some very fine work," said the agent, "and in order to introduce it to the public we make the first picture free. We will expect you to show the picture to your neighbors, of course, and help advertise us in that way. The picture will not cost you a cent."

Mr. Williams hunted up a picture and gave it to the man to enlarge.

The other day he returned with the enlarged picture. It was inclosed in a gaudy frame.

"Of course," the man explained, the picture costs you nothing, but we charge $5.00 for a frame like that."

"The picture is all right," said Mr. Williams. "It pleases me first rate. I will just take it into the other room and see what my wife thinks of it."

And Mart went into another room, removed the picture from behind the glass and returned with the empty frame.

"My wife likes the picture first rate," he said, as he handed back the frame, "but she thinks we cannot afford to buy the frame. We like the picture first rate. By the way, we have two or three more pictures that you may enlarge on the same terms. I am always willing to help a fellow along that way when I can do it without any expense to myself."

But the man didn't take any more. He felt that Mart was a poor subject to work any flim-flam games on, and so, with a strained "Good-day," he left for greener fields, carrying his empty frame.—Punxsut'ney Spirit.

A 4-Year-Old Hotel Runner.

From the Chicago News.

He does not crack a whip loudly to call the attention of the public to his vehicle. He does not in stentorian tones demand of incoming passengers at Equality, Saline county, Ill., that they come to the hotel for which he is a runner in." Yet considering his years or his lack of them, he is one of the most successful members of his profession. He is Max Walters, aged 4, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Walters of Equality.

Max's foster father is an agent for machinery, and also a hotel keeper. Max is equally at home in proclaiming the advantages of each business. He goes to the depot each day to meat the trains and to accost every stranger with recommendations of his father's hotel. He usually succeeds in marshalling quite a crowd to the paternal hostelry, which is not far from the depot. When he is not thus engaged he strolls about dispensing valuable information concerning his father's machinery to all such as are uninformed on the subject. His youth and engaging manner make him an admirable agent.

The Key of Sheridan's Success.

General Horace Porter, in his "Campaigning with Grant," in the September Century, says, after describing the battle of Five Forks:

Sheridan had that day fought one of most interesting tactical battles of the war admirable in conception, brilliant in execution, strikingly dramatic in its incidents, and productive of extremely important results.

I said to him: "It seems to me that you have exposed yourself to day in a manner hardly justifiable on the part of a commander of such an important movement." His reply gave what seems to be the true key to his uniform success on the field: "I have never in my life taken a command into battle, and had the slighest desire to come out alive unless I won."

New Use for Grapes.

It has been discovered that grapes used with Elecampane Root and the Herb Horehound in proper proportion made into a cordial is performing wonderful cures in stubborn cases of colds, sore throat and hoarseness.

Public speakers claim it far superior for the throat to any confection. It is coming in general use among physicians. Ask for Aunt Rachael's Horehound Cordial. For sale by druggists.

Buddhist Remains in Java,

The fact is not generally appreciated that there are ruins of Buddhist and Brahmanic temple in middle Java surpassing in extent and magnificence anything to be seen in Egypt or India. There, in the heart of the steaming tropics, in that summer land of the world below the equator, on an island where volcanoes cluster more thickly and vegetation is richer than in any other region of the globe, where earthquakes continually rock and shatter, and where deluges descend during the rainy half of the year, remains nearly intact the temple of Boro Boedor, covering almost the same area as the great pyramid of Gizeh. It is ornamented with hundreds of life-size statues and miles of bas-reliefs, presenting the highest examples of Greco-Buddhist art—a sculptured record of all the arts and industries, the culture and civilization, of the golden age of Java, of the life of the seventh, eighth and ninth centuries in all the farther east—a record that is not written in hieroglyphs, but in plainest pictures carved by sculptor's chisel. That solid pyramidal temple, rising in magnificent sculptured terraces, that was built without mortar or cement, without column or pillar or arch, is one of the surviving wonders of the world. On the spot it seems a veritable miracle.—["Prisoners of State at Boro Boedor," by Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore, in the September Century.

Funeral of Samuel Sornberger.

The funeral of Samuel Sornberger, the murdered Williamsport young man, took place in that city last Thursday afternoon, It was attended by the First Baptist Sunday school cadets, and a large wd of people. There were many floral offerings. Rev. George Cooper, formerly of Williamsport Baptist church, but now of Richmond, conducted the services.

The Williamsport Times last Thusday evening published the following:

"Timothy Hartnett, the self-confessed murderer of Samuel Sornberger, still languishes in a steel cage on the second floor in the county jail. Hartnett has begun to feel the enormity of the crime and when visited by a Times man this morning he was much depressed and great large tears coursed down his cheeks as he referred feelingly to his wife and family, It is for them that he worries most, and talks constantly of them. He expressed himself as being very sorry that the occurence had resulted in Sornberger's death. He was a friend of the dead boy's father, and spoke of the terrible shock he and his family must have endured when they heard of the death of their boy. Hartnett is visited frequently by his wife and family, but all others are not allowed to see and converse, per instructions from his counsel, Charles J. Reilly.

"When Hartnett will be given a hearing has not been decided upon, but it will be just as soon as District Attorney Edwards gets through with court. The hearing will simply consist of committing him for the next term of criminal court."

"Peace with Wheat."

The New York World says: There is food for thought in the fact that the European countries that are longest on war stock are shortest on wheat stock. It is the peculiar happiness of the United States to have the smallest army and the largest wheat crop of all the "great powers." "Peace with wheat" is as good a motto as Beaconsfield's "Peace with honor."

Death of "Cupid's Agent.

New York, Sept. 2.—Lazarus Margantheu, the philanthropist, known as "Cupid's Agent," because of his scheme to give all orphan girls a dowry of $100 to begin married life with, is dead at the age of 83. He recently lost his fortune, and died in a poorly furnished room. He had at different times given liberally to orphan asylums, but his dowry plan was not a success.

Scott Key's Daughter Ill.

OAKLAND, Md., Sept. 3.—Mrs. Elizabeth Phoebe Key Howard, only daughter of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," is seriously ill. She is nearly 94 years old, and suffered a stroke of paralysis on Saturday.

WHAT a blow it would be to Mr. Bryan and the free silverenes if Mexico should be compelled to adopt the gold standard. This step by Mexico would knock out the last pin from under the silver cause in the United States.

WITH the fall of 25 per cent. in the value of silver and an advance of 50 per cent. in the value of wheat in the past year, the wheat-and-silver-hand-in-hand theory is heard no more as an argument.

THE Democratic theory of the taxed dinner pail is no longer listened to by the workman who is now receiving regular employment and high wages. Let the dinner pail be taxed, if necessary, he says. Better full and taxed than free and empty.

Sunbury Item: About a peck of bees come flying down the river at noon Wednesday and turning east at Strawberry avenue circled over Bert Brittain's lot. Taking a coal bucket and a shovel he started a tune which seemed to charm the bees and they settled on a quince bush, almost breaking it down. Mr. Brittain got a hive and succeeded in housing enough bees to furnish him with his winter's supply of honey.

A Frightful Runaway.

Friday evening just about six o'clock, there seemed to be a good bit of excitement on Allegheny street, and we were thoroughly surprised because Bellefonte is not used to excitements. But for the last week the Logan fire men had been soliciting for their picnic, which was held Saturday, and all day Friday they were collecting and towards evening James Morrison and Harry Garrett and some other men were coming in Allegheny street when their horses frightened at something and became uncontrollable. In some way James Morrison was thrown out of the wagon in front of the Hale residence, bumping his head against the stone curb He laid in an unconscious condition for about five minutes but he was all right a half an hour afterwards, The front part of the wagon, which was Mr. Frank Naginey's, was pretty well broken up; the harness was a good bit torn up also. The horses were two of Geo. Beezer's and were not hurt in the least.

A BEAUTIFUL LIFE ENDED.

Mrs. R. A. Beck Passes Peacefully Away.

Sorry indeed we are to announce the death of one who was so dearly loved and honored by all who knew her, but our lives are not our own and we cannot tell how soon we ourselves may go.

The Master has said, "I will come again and receive you unto myself," and so He came Thurs. afternoon and took home this loving wife, and has left this home desolate and gloomy. It really seems hard, but do you think the Master would do anything unwise? No; everything He does is for our good, and so this one He has taken away is surely for some good purpose.

Mrs. Beck was not a lady hard to get acquainted with, for as soon as she met you she would always have some words of cheer and encouragement to help you on your way. But she was not a lady who would push herself forward to make an acquaintance. She was always quiet and a little reserved and had one of the most beautiful dispositions of any lady in Bellefonte, and she was known by all the little poor children in Bellefonte, On Easter she and her husband would color hundreds of eggs and give them to the little street waifs; and indeed these lovely traits of love and charity will be missed. Then again, when she learned of any poor family being in need of the necessaries of life, she and her good husband would carry a basket of good things to that home. She was a consecrated Christian lady in every respect and was always found, if not ill, in her pew on the Sabbath day.

Mrs. Beck passed away Thurs. afternoon at twenty minutes of one, she has only been sick since the twenty-second of August, she in some way contracted a cold which resulted in pneumonia. She took her bed and she seemed to give up all hopes of recovery from the begining. She was patiently nursed by her friends and one especially Mrs. Newman, who had been with her since she took sick, and two minutes before she died she spoke to Mrs. Newman, saying, "I cannot stand this long" and silently passed away.

On Sunday afternoon, when all nature was out in gladness, sorrow seemed to reign supreme in this one home when they laid to rest this wife and friend; yes, laid to rest in the tomb until that great day shall come and she shall rise to answer to her name at the long roll call. The church was crowded to the doors with sorrowing friends. The funeral cortege arrived at the church promptly at 4:00 o'clock, and when it did so the beautiful strains of music began to fill the large edifice. Rev. Dr. Wright met them at the door and a beautiful prayer was read on the way up the aisle. The choir then sang a very pretty burial chant. The Scripture lesson was then read, after which the choir sang very beautifully, "Abide With Me." The funeral procession then moved on to the cemetery, where this lovely lady now sleeps.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jas. Seibert, Seigmund Joseph, John Miller, Harry Stitzer, Calvin Gerberich and ex-Sheriff Ishler.

Mrs. Beck's maiden name was Annie Riegger, her parents died when she was a baby. She was born in Germany July 25, 1845 making her age, 52 years 1 month 7 days she came to this country in 1867 and was married to Mr. R. A. Beck in 1871, in the city of Huntingdon Pa. They moved to Bellefonte in 1878 and from that time they have lived in this town, during that year they became members of the Episcopal church. We extend to Mr. Beck in this his hours of trial our deepest sympathy.

ON TOP AGAIN.

For the Second Time This Season the Business Men Down the Lawyers.

Another interesting game of ball was played at Hecla Park Tuesday afternoon, between the lawyers and business men which resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 22 to 15. McGinley and Sheffer were the battery for the business men and did excellent work. Keichline started in to pitch for the lawyers but the business men caught on to his curves and did not do a thing but pound out 16 runs in four innings. Then Mac Curtin was substituted in his place and the tune changed. Quigley caught for the lawyers and put up a first class game.

A Night Blooming Cereus.

A pleasant party of friends gathered at the beautiful home of Mrs. L. A. Schaeffer, on East Curtin street, Tuesday evening, The object of the gathering was to witness the blooming of a beautiful night blooming cereus which Mrs. Schaeffer by much care and skill had induced to put forth one of the beautiful flowers for which they are famous. This is the first time in four years that this plant has bloomed. Mrs. Shaeffer expects to take extra pairs with it this winter and hopes to make it bear several flowers next year,

Fires at the Glass Works Started.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the fires at the glass works were lighted and about the 17th of this month they will begin to blow glass. Miss Florence Cole, daughter of Jacob Cole, had the honor of lighting the fire which will set in motion one of Bellefonte's leading industries. The co-operative glass company was organized about one year ago by the workmen, with the assistance of the citizens of our town. It was an experiment then but it has met with splendid success and is fast getting a firm foothold. They have increased their capacity from four to eight pots and and have everything in apple pie order.
